There is No Place Quite Like Pittsburgh in March

The Empty Bowls Dinner is filled with hand crafted ceramic bowls and great food for an even greater cause.

March is a month of transition. We will say good-bye to winter and welcome spring. We'll lose an hour of sleep as we spring ahead on the 13th. We'll start to see green in places it's been hiding. A new feeling will emerge within us. Is it hope? Renewal? Optimism? We may even feel restless or distracted. That's why they call it "spring fever."

There is scientific evidence that sunlight exposure releases serotonin, the happiness hormone, but it could also just be the fact that warm weather, longer days, and sunshine is around the corner.

Other than spring, March in Pittsburgh makes me think of two things. St. Patrick's Day and Fish Fries!

There's no city quite like ours when it comes to celebrating St. Patrick's Day. The Annual St. Patrick's Day parade is being held this year on Sat., Mar. 12 at 10 a.m. Info on the exact route can be found at pittsburghstpatricksdayparade.com.

There will be many events following the parade to continue the celebration.

There are Irish pubs all around the Pittsburgh area so if downtown is not where you want to be, try a place closer to home. Some of theses places are Mullaney's Harp & Fiddle in the Strip, Riley's Pour House in Carnegie, and McFadden's and Monterey Pub on the North Shore. They are all offering something special to celebrate the holiday but call each one for specific details.

Lent begins Ash Wednesday on March 2, which starts the period of Friday Fish Fries all across the area and will end April 15. This doesn't mean only fish. Most places have homemade macaroni and cheese, haluski, pizza, fries, shrimp, crab cakes, desserts and more. It makes for a fun challenge to try out a different place each week and you can feel good as the proceeds are usually going towards a worthy cause. A partial list of the events are on page.

Another event that is filled with good food and helping a very worthy cause is the Empty Bowls Dinner on Sun., Mar. 27, at Rodef Shalom from 1 - 7:30 p.m. Enjoy a friendly, informal meal of hearty soups, tasty breads and treats. Each ticket includes your meal as well as a hand crafted ceramic bowl. For everyone's health and safety, this year's event will have vaccination and face mask requirements, smaller seating sizes, and an increased soup-to-go ticket option. Please review the COVID-19 Health and Safety Guidelines prior to purchasing a ticket on the website. All proceeds benefit the Greater Pittsburgh Community Food Bank and Info Just Harvest. at pittsburghfoodbank.org.

In keeping with good food options and warmer weather, a 'Burgh Bits & Bites food tour could be the perfect thing. With the leadership of a well informed guide, you can discover Pittsburgh neighborhoods like the Strip District, Brookline, South Side, Lawrenceville and more while enjoying tastings as you stroll. The tours are open on Fridays, Saturdays and some Mondays. They also offer custom tours for groups. Info at burghfoodtour.com.

If you want to walk and explore, skip the food but not the drink, try the Whiskey Walking Tour.

This tour will reveal how whiskey has fueled political, labor and social movements throughout the region. Walk the streets of Downtown, and learn about the violent Whiskey Rebellion in Pittsburgh and hidden former (as well as existing!) Speakeasies around the city. This is NOT a bar crawl but a whiskey history tour with final whiskey tasting. Info at walktheburgh.com.

The Pittsburgh and Landmarks Foundation offers six different selfguided tours. They are the Downtown Pittsburgh Gateway Center, Grant Street, Market Square Area, Pittsburgh Penn-Liberty area, Fourth Street area and Pittsburgh Bridges & River Shores. There are free downloadable pdf walking maps and detailed historical information for your tour. Go at your own pace and enjoy! Info at phlf.org.

Another free tour that also has a guide is the 90 minute Downtown Walking Tour. Get a great overview of Pittsburgh's rich history and much more. Scheduling and information at freetourspittsburgh.com.

The 40th Annual Pittsburgh Home & Garden Show will be held Mar 4 - Mar 13, at the David L. Lawrence Convention Center and will offer 1900 exhibits in areas such as the Dream Home Innovation Center, The Kitchen Idea Center and the Garden Resource Center. Everything you need to know about your home or garden can all be found here. Info at pghhome.com.

The Annual Farm to Table Expo will be at the Home & Garden Show as well.

The Farm to Table Buy Local stages include health & wellness speakers, cooking demonstrations, gardening/farming education, kids activities and will feature 60+ local food vendors. Info at farmtotablepa.com.

It could be written in the stars that March will be in like a lion and out like a lamb. There is a theory that the saying originated because of astrology and not the weather. When March begins, the constellation of Leo, or the lion, rises in the east and at the end of the month the constellation Aries, the lamb, sets in the west. It seems that weather also aligns with this proverb. Either way, I'm counting on a lamb come April!

Happy Spring!

MUSINGS...WHAT IF I'M THE PROBLEM?

Editor's Note: Sharon Eakes is a personal and executive coach, who is a regular columnist for our paper as well as for the Huffington Post. She is the author of Fresh Views on Resilient Living. She may be reached by calling 412-741-1709 or email Sharon @hopellc.com.

Sharon and Nancy Smyth, her business partner in Two Wise Women, together published, "Chocolate or Lunch, How Choices Impact Relationships." If you have tense relationships, this book is for you. Both books are available through Amazon. There is a natural, inward-mindset inclination to wait for others to change before doing anything different oneself. Arbinger Institute

Blaming

On a delightful catch-up call with my son, Gordon, I heard a repetitive clicking sound. My first thought was, "I wish he'd turn off whatever is causing that noise." It continued. So finally I asked, "Do you hear that annoying tapping sound?" "No," he answered.

Suddenly it occurred to me it could be coming from my end. And sure enough, my phone had fallen off its cradle and was running out of charge.

Why do we automatically blame the other person for whatever is going wrong? Maybe we dislike being imperfect?

Sometimes we go to great lengths to prove we are right – gathering evidence, recruiting allies, digging in.

A Gamechanger

Pausing to look at my contribution to any problem can be a gamechanger. If it's a conflict with another person – at work or at home, grown up or child-sized, acknowledging my role almost always softens the way I see the other person. Neither of us has to work so hard to justify ourselves. Often a creative path to transcending the difficulty presents itself, as if by magic.

Working with the executive team of a company whose culture had become toxic, a facilitator from the Arbinger Institute asked each executive to consider this statement:

As far as I am concerned, the problem is me.

This is an unusual and counterintuitive thing to suggest.

The proposal is simple. And it takes a slight pause, and some humility. Next time you're in a conflicted situation, consider:

What if I'm the problem?

Here's a question that may help you go there:

When I'm upset and blaming, what's it like to be on the receiving end of me?"

Sometimes when I consider that I might be the problem, things resolve quickly....like on the phone with Gordon.

COACHING QUESTIONS:

1. Think about any conflict you're experiencing. Ask yourself, "When I'm upset and blaming, what's it like to be on the receiving end of me?"

2.Consider the question: "What if I'm the problem?"

3. The other person may also be a problem, but I can't change them.

4.So, how can I change? Often just considering my role in the problem gives the other person someone different to respond to and the conflict dissolves quickly.

The Fishin' Hole

Thirty-three days is all that remains until April 2, at 8:00 a.m., the Pennsylvania statewide opening day of trout season. A full thirteen of those days are either a Friday or a Saturday or a Sunday which, let's be honest, they don't really count as actual days so we are talking about less is in full swing for 2022. Here is what you need to know. First, you can purchase your fishing license online at the Fish and Boat Commission website, or, in any num-

than three weeks until trout season

ber of retail stores. The annual license for an adult resident of Pennsylvania is pricing at $22.97 this year and the trout permit sticker will cost you an additional $9.97. If you are 65 years old or older your annual license will cost $11.97 with the trout stamp remaining the same. If you are less than 16 years of age, you do not need a fishing license.

The season will begin at 8 a.m. on Saturday April 2, with minimum size for keeping any trout being seven inches. The creel limit from opening day through Labor Day is five trout, combined, of any species. After Labor Day that limit is reduced to three trout combined, of any species.

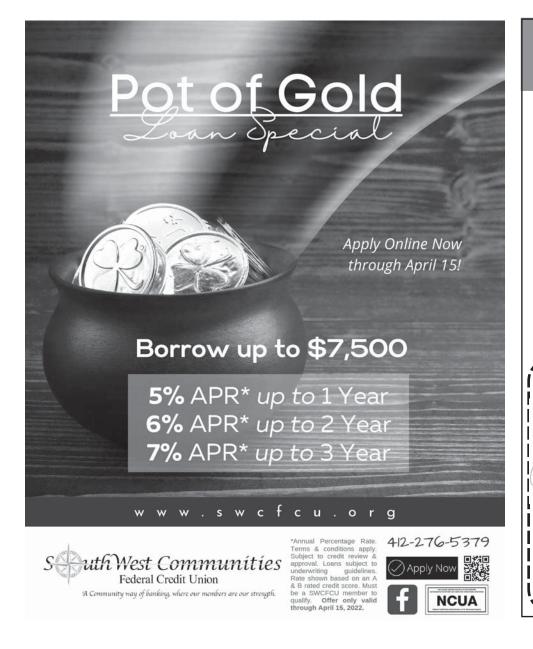

Almost every trout fishery will receive a stocking of trout in these next 33 days and one of the best things you can do is go onto the Pennsylvania Fish and Boat Commission Website, locate your fishery and when it will be stocked and go out and volunteer to help with the stocking. It is fun and a great way to meet other anglers, as well as know where the fish are located to start their lives in your preferred stream or lake. If you are going to have to go fishing to keep yourself sane before trout season opens, Erie has good steelhead still running and of course, the three rivers are all still open for fishing. Please use a lot of caution as we have had a tremendous amount of rain and melting snow in the past few weeks. The waters can be very high and dangerous at this time of year. Good news that comes with that high water, if you are a stream angler, is there will be a lot of places for trout to hold and good fishing spots when the first day does arrive.

Now, it is up to you to prepare. Cleaning out the vest or tackle box the night before or, even worse, the morning of, will inevitably lead to problems. Make some time over the next couple of weeks to make sure you have all the proper equipment and terminal tackle. The top priorities for me are a changing of the line and a serious check of my boots. I have had the awful first day leaky boot situation happen to me on more than one occasion. Not good, not good at all! That's what I will say about that. One final tip before I go check my boots, wear a watch that first morning. Many people rely on their phones for the time now and pulling your phone out, time and time again on a cold morning, is just begging for trouble! Plus, wearing a watch will make you very popular. Every thirty seconds from 7:50 until 8:00 a.m., someone will be asking you what time it is! Keep those lines tight and send your stories pictures and to samdhall@comcast.net

A beauty of a trout!

Fun Ways to Celebrate the Arrival of Spring

Spring is a season of rebirth in more ways than one. Spring is when certain animals emerge from hibernation, while many species lay eggs or give birth this time of year. Flowers and trees also bloom in spring, providing spectacular foliage and awe-inspiring color.

People also may feel like they have a new lease on life as they shake away the doldrums of winter and embrace longer hours of sunlight and warmer temperatures. The arrival of spring is worthy of celebration, and these activities and ideas can be enjoyable ways to spend the first day of spring

Spend time outdoors. One is never too old for a picnic in a park or a bike ride along the trails. Spending time outdoors is beneficial because it exposes people to sunlight, which is a precursor to the development of vitamin D. Vitamin D affects muscles, joints and tissues. It also can affect mood.

Try planting a tree. Honor the first day of spring, and Earth Day shortly thereafter, by planting trees. Trees provide habitats for wildlife, create shade, reduce air pollution by filtering the air, and produce oxygen. A sapling is a mangeable tree to plant and something children can do as well.

Enjoy spring crafts. Grab an inexpensive canvas and paint a landscape that is in full bloom. Use quick-set plaster to create stepping stones embedded with mosaic glass pieces for color that can be added to the backyard.

Host a spring potluck. Put fresh spring vegetables and fruits on display. Options include artichokes, apricots, asparagus, carrots, dandelion greens, and radishes. Put together a pasta primavera, which essentially is a spring pasta dish laden with fresh vegetables.

Decorate with flowers. Bring fresh flowers indoors and put them on display in vases or table centerpieces. Cut stems on a 45-degree angle underwater to help flowers last longer.

Create a water feature. The sound and sights of cascading water can be both relaxing and picturesque. A water feature can be something as simple as a small fountain or more elaborate like a koi pond.

Spring is a time of year when people can enjoy seasonal activities that make the most of the warmer weather and blooming landscape.
