

Cade Parks

PRCA BULLFIGHTER

Cade Parks grew up with a love for rodeo. As a kid, the Mississippi native honed his burgeoning bullfighting skills on goats and young steers before moving up to the big leagues. Now 28 years old, he has been a PRCA cardholder for 10 years. Cade has fought the 2014 Benny Binion Bucking Stock Sale, as well as the 2019 Southeastern Circuit Finals. In 2020, he fought in the PRCA Tour Finale. A father to two beautiful children, Cameron (9) and Blakely (7), he currently resides in Carthage, Texas. "I'm thankful for Harper&Morgan Rodeo and the PRCA for allowing me to rodeo for a living! All the glory goes to Jesus!"

Austin Rudloff

PRCA BULLFIGHTER

Austin Rudloff of Stephenville, Texas grew up around rodeo. Austin's Dad, Gerry Byrn, was a rodeo bullfighter for many years and ultimately retired to own the Diamond Cross Rodeo along with partner, Wesley McManus. Austin spent his childhood immersed in the traditions and hard work of rodeo production.

When Austin was 20 years old he started to professionally fight bulls and rodeo in 2 Texas circuits, the CPRA and the UPRA. By age twenty-four he earned his Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association permit, a recognition of skill and professionalism in the rodeo arena. Austin holds a business agriculture degree from Tarleton State University. He spends most days on the road, moving stock, setting up arenas, lending a hand, and helping to keep the sport of rodeo front and center.
