

Upland Ironweed

This Native perennial is a bit shorter than its cousin, New York Ironweed, but just as stunning. It will tolerate drier conditions than other Ironweed species. The flowers will attract hordes of butterflies to your yard. Ironweed has been utilized traditionally for medicinal purposes.

Vernonia glauca

- Hardiness: Zone 6-8
- Size: 3-5'
- Habit: Fast growth rate, spreading to about 2-4'
- Flower: Deep Purple from the end of July through September
- Culture: Full Sun and dry to moist soils.
- Uses: Meadow, naturalizing, pollen source, butterflies, medicinal

NATIVE TO EASTERN UNITED STATES