President's Letter

Greetings All,

The meeting on March 20th went well this month. We covered various items as noted in the minutes.

I would like to thank Dave Peterson for volunteering to go to Anoka Technical College to pick up the cutaway engine and deliver it to Terry down at Little Dearborn. I expect the engine will be in place sometime in the next few weeks.

I would like to thank the staff at Anoka Technical College for displaying the cutaway engine for the last few years.

The clinic on March 15th was very interesting and informative on the "Street Cars of Minneapolis" by Aaron Isaacs. Aaron did a great job with his presentation considering the overhead projector was not functioning for the clinic. I have contacted the school to report the issue. I was assured the overhead projector will be in functioning order for the "Prohibition" clinic by David Jones.

I would like to thank Dawn & Jerome Bokelmann for donating an overhead projector to our club which will be used as a backup in the event there is another issue with the overhead projector at the school.

I would like to extend well wishes to Darel Leipold who had bypass surgery in March. Darel is doing well as I understand from an update at our monthly meeting.

We need 2 volunteers to host the June and July 2018 business meetings for your club. If you are interested please contact any board member.

The weather is warming up and thoughts of digging out our "A's" from their long winters nap is calling. How about a Coffee Social maybe at McDonalds? Coffee Socials are a great way to meet club members and discuss Model A projects and events of the day. If anyone up for a Coffee Social or maybe taking out their Model As for a run let anyone on the board know.

Well that's it for now.

Warmest Regards,

Doug Portlance – TCMAFC President

WOMEN'S CLINIC

History on Women's Clothing

With the stock market crash limiting budgets and bringing modesty back in style, home sewing became the most common way to acquire new fashions, women turned to the department store or mail order catalog for fabrics. The cost of materials was usually much lower than the cost of ready-made clothing. For example, a basic cotton print was 25 cents per yard in 1934, which is about $4.48 USD today. Assuming 3 yards of fabric is needed, the total cost for the dress fabric in 1934 would be 75 cents and is about $13.44 today. A new ready-made, simple house dress cost $1.29 or about $23 today. The savings is not great but combined with upcycling old dresses, reusing old trim, a new homemade dress could and did mean substantial savings.

Reproduction Clothing

Additional fun when driving our Model A's is dressing up in era clothing, but currently our options are pretty limited. You can either purchase items from a vintage or antique store (which can be very expensive) or you can sew your own. Whether purchasing ready-made outfits or sewing reproduction clothing, we need to better understand colors, fabrics and clothing styles of that era.

Prints were a big deal in the 1930s and not just for house dresses as they had been in the 1920s. Improvements in textile printing meant designs could be printed on almost any kind of fashion fabric available. 1930s prints favored flowers above all else. Small floral in simple, painterly designs resemble arts and crafts styles. Florals became slightly larger as the decade aged, but hardly ever grew beyond 3-inch flowers. Although Art Deco was in full swing, there was little Deco design in fashion prints. There were some repeating geometrics, such as diamonds and squares and of course polka dots.

Cotton was a popular fabric then because it came in an assortment of different weights. As a natural fiber, it took dye and printing well, was washable, durable, and breathable in hot weather. It was also prone to shrinking and fading in the sun. Types of cotton available were broadcloth, cotton suiting, foulard, covert, percale, lawn, batiste, and pique.

Another popular fabric in 1930 was crepe and it was a perfect fabric for the 1930 styles. It was light, flowing and draped nicely, but it was also thick enough to avoid the sheer issues of cheaper fabrics. It had many subtle textures from smooth (flat crepe) or pebbled. It could be made of rayon, silk or cotton or more likely a blend of them. Crepe fabric came in solid prints and floral prints in rich colors.

Patterns that you can borrow can be found at our website (<http://www.tcmafc.com/>) or in the latest roster. Feel free to contact me if you see something you would like to borrow. Options to find patterns you can purchase; are the Model A Ford Club of America (<http://www.mafca.com/patterns/patterns.html>) or the Model A Restorer's Club (<http://model-a-ford.org/>), Reconstructing history, Decades of Style (<https://www.decadesofstyle.com>) and If you find a location you like for patterns of era clothing, please let me know so we can share it with others.

In April we will plan on attending the attending the Men's clinic to listen to a guest speaker talk about prohibition. At the May clinic I will be presenting on Men's fashion. The Teachers' lounge will be available during these times if you would prefer to go there for coffee, treats and conversations.

His late father Mel Gross was a well known parts supplier, mentor and cottage industry rebuilder for the Model A community. Randy has expanded on his father's work and is very dedicated to the Model A people. His knowledge of the braking system and his willingness to help out people doing rebuilds or supplying complete rebuilt components is well known. Men's Clinic

Our Thursday night meeting topic was the history of the Street Car system of the cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul. Aaron Isaacs a volunteer of the Minnesota Streetcar Museum gave us a thorough explanation of the formation, expansion and inner workings of the streetcar company that served our cities until the bus system with the help of the General Motors Corporation obsoleted the use of street car transportation. We had an audiovisual glitch which left us without a visual display of pictures showing the early days of the cities and the streetcars. Mr. Isaacs painted such a complete history relating local landmarks and detailed explanations of the equipment and people involved with the transit system that we came away with a vivid picture of the system and the history. The Minnesota Streetcar Museum group runs an original streetcar at Lake Harriet in Minneapolis and a Streetcar boat in Excelsior at Lake Minnetonka and you are welcome to visit and take a ride on them.

Aaron Isaacs

Our usual clinic activities of exhibiting curiosities brought again some interesting items. For our new members Vince Smith pointed out the problems in design of the original fan and its tendencies to break and cause damages. Tom Wesenberg brought an antique soldering iron powered by an automobile battery and he made a multi -purpose tool to inspect the spark generated by the coil and to use as a temporary coil wire. An early wheel lock for anti-theft was shown by Ken Huber along with a robot made from a huge antique erector set. We had another tool made and displayed by Jim Richardson that took another direction in the adjustment measurement of the clutch pressure plate fingers. Last month we had two other members create tools to do the same job. This version used the concept of electrical continuity to determine when the finger was at its precise height when touching a measurement point coupled to a multimeter. We have a creative group of members who enjoy solving problems and creating tools to do it.

A neat place you may be interested in, submitted by Art Doucot who Snowbirds in Florida but still thinks of his many friends back home

Last night Diana and I had dinner with Gordon and Penny Eldridge at the Ford's Garage restaurant while they were visiting with us at our winter home in Florida. They are former members of the TCMAFC and Gordon was for many years Clinic Coordinator. Attached are two pictures of Gordon and me, the ladies were camera shy.

The theme of the restaurant is Model A Fords. There are Model As outside and inside. Model As are even hanging from the ceiling, High Boy gas pumps, grease rags for napkins with a hose clamp as a napkin holder, tool display and engine blocks sitting on the bars. The food was great!! You can see more about this restaurant and menu by Googling Ford's Garage, Brandon Fl. God, would this be a great place for a Model A function.

The Ford's Garage restaurants are an official licensee of the Ford Motor Company. This restaurant chain is rapidly growing and has restaurants in the following cities of Florida: Cape Coral, Estero, Brandon, Lutz, Tampa and Clearwater. They recently opened another restaurant in Dearborn, Michigan.
