01/10/2021 – New Year

I sincerely hope that 2021 is a happier year than 2020. I lost my 90-year-old mother just before Christmas to COVID-19. She was known as a kind person with a positive attitude and deep faith. She loved to see the colorful fabrics I would find and turn into Ridiculously Adorable clothes.

Although I am still making lots of masks for family & friends, I am looking forward to getting back to making Ridiculously Adorable clothes. I've had a few custom orders in the last months, and it gave me great joy to match colors and buttons. I plan to initially focus the early part of this year on sundresses (see photos below) for girls, sizes 6-mos to 4. A bit of organizing during quarantining and I discovered quite a lot of cute summer fabric I've been collecting; also a few appropriate fabrics for princess costumes (who knew). Then I'll dig in on fleece items, which I usually take to craft fairs. I hope that fall and winter craft fairs will again be scheduled in 2021; there's nothing on the calendar yet, but fingers crossed. As always, I love to work with you on custom orders to make your adorable child Ridiculously Adorable, so please contact me.

My website has links to my current Available Items, as well as the available fleece fabrics I have on-hand for custom orders. I'll continue to update those as the year progresses. I can bill electronically, and will deliver locally or send thru USPS.

Sundress available in sizes 6-mos thru 4
