THE FIRE ISLAND WILDERNESS COMMITTEE, P.O. Box 336, Bellport, N.Y. 11713, seeks to have the National Park Service declare a relatively pristine 8 mile area of Fire Island, west of Smith Point Park, a National Wilderness Area, which would guarantee preservation of its natural configuration and prevent future development into an active recreation area. Wilderness designation would not preclude access to it for passive recreation, such as hiking, nor a throughway by vehicles below high tide line. The site contains shipwrecks of two 1800s coastal schooners in a former inlet closed by the 1938 hurricane, and an extensive list of flora and fauna regularly seen on Long Island 20 years ago and now obliterated in most developed areas. For more information and how you may assist in securing for generations to come the type of Fire Island habitat that we have enjoyed in the past, contact Sophie Morris, Executive Director, at the above address or PY8-4411.

PRESERVATION OF SHELTER ISLAND MASHOMACK FOREST has been assured by the Nature Conservancy raising the $6 million needed for its purchase. This action will undoubtedly preserve many archaeological sites in this largely unsurveyed area known for extensive Contact-period Indian habitation. The known archaeological remains on ROBINS ISLAND may be safe-guarded if either of two current proposals bear fruit: the proposed Peconic Bay Marine Sanctuary, with Federal purchase, or, failing that, county purchase.

N.Y.S. HISTORIANS-IN-RESIDENCE GRANT was awarded to the Museums at Stony Brook for research on late 19th century manufacturing in Stony Brook, Setauket, and Port Jefferson.
