Copyright laws are important to respect. Our bakery staff faces stiff fines if they reproduce any photos that are copyrighted. Look at the picture you have, and if it has the © or ® symbol on it, we can't put it on your cookies.

Under the current copyright law in the United States you must obtain permission from the copyright owner if you want to use their design on any item, including cakes, in which an exchange of money takes place to receive. This includes TV, cartoon, & movie characters, sports teams, school, University logos, fashion labels and more.

Making sure you have written permission to use the copyrighted design ensures you and your cake decorator are not liable and possibly subjected to any of the following penalties for copyright infringement:

Infringer pays the actual dollar amount of damages and profits.

The law provides up to $150,000 for each work infringed.

Infringer pays for all attorney's fees and court costs.

The Court can issue an injunction to stop the infringing acts.

The Court can impound the works and the infringer can go to jail
