

PRESENTER - ANDREW SEUBERT, LMHC, NCC

Andrew is a nationally certified counselor, licensed mental health counselor and an EMDRIA-approved consultant and trainer with extensive background in an Existential-Gestalt approach to growth and therapy. Always drawn to forms of therapy that address the entire person—mind, body, emotions, creativity and spirit, Andrew has developed an extremely holistic approach in his work with individuals, couples, families and groups.

Formerly an educator, musician and Peace Corps Volunteer, Andrew has consulted with Corning Incorporated, small businesses and human service agencies, providing stress management and conflict resolution training, as well as workshops and coaching that facilitate personal growth and performance enhancement. He has published peer-reviewed articles and book chapters, as well as his first book, "The Courage to Feel", and his soon to be released "How Simon Left His Shell: The Courage to Feel for Young People." Andrew is a highly engaging, interactive therapist and retreat/workshop facilitator whose passion about his work is expressed in his use of music, creative imagination, experiential approaches and humor.

In addition to working with a broad spectrum of therapeutic issues, Andrew has a strong interest in healing from trauma and PTSD, particularly through the use of EMDR. This interest also informs his approach in working with eating disorders and helping couples create and renew their relationship. His passion for an integration of psychotherapy and spirituality is a driving force, whether in individual sessions, workshops or intensive therapeutic retreats.

What therapists have said about Andrew's supervision/consultation:

I have always been impressed with the exceptional quality of Andrew's consultation and supervision. Every piece of information he shares has obviously been so clearly thought out, researched, and critically analyzed that it can be used with great confidence. His deep mindfulness, humor, and understanding make working with him both rich and comfortable. S.M., Corning, NY

[Andrew is] amazingly skilled and tremendously intuitive. This doesn't mean much, I realize, without concrete information. So I will try to describe my experience. Let's say I bring a question, issue, or source of confusion. First, he listens exquisitely. Secondly, he is very intuitive AND very experienced. The result, for me, has been that he understands the question/issue very quickly and has a pool of experiences into which he dips to connect with what I am trying to get at and then a bag of skills and alternative approaches from which he pulls suggestions. His ability to do this without ego games, condescension, judgemental attitude has allowed a hypersensitive soul like me to be willing to be vulnerable to his critique and open to his suggestions (another way of saying that I am able to learn from him). I am very grateful to have him in my professional life. A.B., Ithaca, NY

Andrew is able to enter into others' in a skillful way--whether the feelings be those of the therapist or of their clients. If therapists have their own obstacles that interfere with treatment delivery, he is adept at helping them work through these. In advising therapists about clients, he provides a total treatment strategy, so that even those clients not ready for the full EMDR protocol can be helped by various other strategies. He gets to the core of everyone's issues quickly, deftly and compassionately. He provides great consultation/supervision! J.H., Watkins Glen, NY

The usefulness of the training, supervision and consultation that I received from Andrew was immeasurably helpful in my work with clients. Andrew shared his wealth of knowledge in a way that made it applicable to my every day practice. His gentle, supportive manner allowed me to take risks to better myself as a therapist. Julia Baker Wallace, LCSW-R

Training and consultation with Andrew is a rare experience that I wish I had more of in my own professional development. He works hard to craft a training environment where every participant's contribution is valued and where trainees can take risks to stretch themselves in ways that are professionally exciting, personally rewarding and ultimately of great use to the clients we hope to serve. Lois Ehrmann, Psy. D., State College, PA
