TOFT COMMUNITY OUTING TO BLETCHLEY PARK, 10 SEPTEMBER 2015

47 people turned out on what was a beautiful late summer's day for the Toft Community outing to Bletchley Park. The group spent the day exploring the mind-boggling story of the top-secret code-breaking work done at Bletchley, which proved so decisive during the Second World War. The trip was jointly organised by Toft Friendship Club and Toft Historical Society, and was supported by a Cambridgeshire County Council grant for events commemorating the end of World War II.
