Legalized Sports Betting: The Most Important Case of this Century

By I. Nelson Rose

The U.S. Supreme Court held its hearing in December. It will release its decision by this June. The ruling could be one of the most important ever issued by the High Court: on whether New Jersey can have legal sports betting?!

First, it is important to understand that the Supreme Court does not care about gambling at all, let alone sports betting. But it cares very much about our system of government and the relationship between the power of the federal government and the states.

The Justices took this case to decide where to draw the lines. What are the limits on the power of the federal government, especially Congress and administrative agencies, to tell the states what they can and cannot do?

The voters of New Jersey amended their State Constitution to expressly allow legal wagers on sports events. Lower courts ruled that the federal Professional and Amateur Protection Act (“PASPA”) not only prevents a state from legalizing a new form of sports betting, but that New Jersey could not even repeal its anti-sports betting laws. In other words, the federal government requires the state to keep something a crime, even when the voters and state legislature want to make it legal.

On the surface, this is a case about interpreting a federal statute, PASPA, and whether that statute is constitutional. So, this may look like—and, of course, really is—a case about sports betting.

But what is really at stake is medical marijuana.

Today, 44 states have passed laws allowing patients to use medical cannabis. Yet, under the federal Controlled Substances Act, the Food and Drug Administration has determined marijuana has no possible medical use. But, this case involves much more: Dig a little deeper and you get to the question of when can the federal government ever overrule state laws.

None of the original drafters of the Constitution in 1789 would have thought that the federal government could interfere in areas like gambling and pot, legal

Gaming News

Mariana Island. The Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands has, according to media reports, officially approved a pair of measures that would update the American territory's regulations on casino gambling. The first measure would raise the maximum amount a casino, employee or individual player could be penalized for rule violations to $800,000. Currently the limit for penalties is a mere $50,000. Recently, the Mariana Islands have become home to the new half-billion-dollar Imperial Pacific Resort. Many entrepreneurs are looking at exotic Pacific locations for future expansion.

Oklahoma. The long-awaited major expansion of the Choctaw Casino and Resort in Grant, Oklahoma, has been completed and the doors are open. The facility, in far southeastern Oklahoma, spent more than $50-million in the re-do. The resort now boasts nearly 100 rooms and suites and 100 more gaming machines. There is also an expanded buffet. It is hoped that the number of new workers being hired will help that region of Oklahoma, which has the highest unemployment rate in the state.

Indiana. The first true full-sized casino in Indiana was on a riverboat. The Casino Aztar opened in 1995. It was anchored in the Ohio River at Evansville, in that state's southwestern corner. Now, the action may soon move off the water and into a land-based facility. The new Tropicana Evansville was made possible by a change in Hoosier gaming rules. The Indiana State Legislature redid some of the regulations two years ago. The new land-based facility will bring gaming in that part of a three-state region to a more level playing field.

Colorado. Legal experts on both sides of the issue continue to look at a suit filed recently in Colorado against the Golden Mardi Gras Casino. A California attorney filed papers on behalf of a dozen former workers at the Black Hawk, Colorado facility. The suit is against the facility's parent company, Affinity Gaming LLC. A major Colorado newspaper reported that the former Golden Mardi Gras employees claim that when the company laid-off 60 employees, the majority of which were female and/or older; just one month later, the suit claims, they were replaced by younger and less-qualified people.

New Zealand. According to the latest released statistics, the casinos of New Zealand saw an increase in visitor spending for the first half of this year. Tourism for New Zealand has reached record highs and the economy is in good condition. The nation's Department of Internal Affairs has reported an increase of 2.6% when it comes to gambling spending—after changes in population and inflation are considered. The boom in tourism helped to push the spending at casinos up by 11.1%, along with casino machine improvements and higher income rates.

British Bingo Bust

Bingo nights will never be the same for a group of seniors living in Redditch, Worcestershire, England, after they accidentally fell afoul of the law. Residents of Harry Taylor House, a retirement home, have been playing Bingo every Friday night for small cash prizes for the past 38 years, but now they’ve been told they cannot play for prize money anymore. The crackdown occurred after the Bingo games were brought to the attention of the City Council, which determined they were in violation of the Private Gaming Law. An officer was quickly dispatched, putting to an end to the illicit gambling at the retirement home as well as several other venues. The City Council said that it hoped Bingo would continue with prizes, such as donated gifts, which is within the law.

Bar Bingo Gets Legal Scrutiny

A popular bar game that promises big cash payouts is coming under the scrutiny of politicians who regulate gaming laws in Illinois. Terry Link, a Democratic State Senator from Waukegan, and his Republican counterparts on the Senate Gaming Committee want the attorney general and the Illinois Gaming Board to investigate small businesses that host bar Bingo games. Illinois state law prohibits Bingo players from paying money to enter a Bingo game to win prizes. To get around this, bar Bingo sponsors have been collecting a flat fee from participating bars in exchange for organizing, promoting and hosting the Bingo. The Senate Gaming Committee sees this as gaming that is illegal and should be closed down.

When Winners are Accused of Cheating

Hi Readers:

Previous letters in this column from players who were bullied or accused of cheating because they were big prize winners resulted in quite a few others writing in to share similar stories. Some examples follow.

If you’ve witnessed or experienced this yourself, please tell me about it and I will share your stories in a future column.

—Guy

Hi Guy,

You ran a letter from a Bingo player who was suspected by his fellow players of somehow cheating because he had a series of wins. I witnessed something quite similar, when a group of jealous players “went after” a young woman who Bingoed three times at the same hall over two weeks (two Tuesday nights).

Her wins weren’t big—I think it was less than $300 total—but a table of regulars was beside themselves that she was apparently taking “their” money.

One of the women did this fake cough thing where she coughed very loudly as she said the word “cheat,” then did it a second time with the word “cow.” Other players sitting around her grinned and laughed quietly at these antics.

I was truly shocked that people would behave this way—motivated, I am sure, by jealousy and envy. Their behavior did not go unnoticed by the winner it was directed toward, either. But she took the high road and ignored their taunts and gave a big smile when she received her payout.

You should also know that there were other people in the hall that night that did not go along with the “mean girls” and were clearly unhappy with how they behaved.

Several of us had a word with the person in charge after Bingo ended. He said that he hadn’t been aware of what happened, thanked us for bringing it to his attention and promised to monitor it in the future.

—LG, California

Hi Guy,

Thank you for running the letter from the winner who was harassed by other players. I have seen this time and time again at Bingo...not necessarily that a winner was thought to be cheating, but just because they won a pot that someone else was close to winning.

The worst behavior I ever saw was a woman who threw a grand tantrum during the last game of the session, when someone else won the final coverall. I kid you not: She slammed her hands on the table, yelled a four-letter word three times, stood up and kicked her chair, scooped up her Bingo paper and tore it to shreds, then grabbed her coat and Bingo things and stormed across the Bingo hall and out the door—making sure to pass by the winner on her way out and throwing her crumpled Bingo paper toward her.

The entire room of people watched this whole performance in silent shock!

I heard later that this same woman showed up again the following week. Fortunately, the Bingo hall took action and banned her from the games.

One of my friends who was there said the woman—who we nicknamed Tantrumella—acted all surprised and insulted that she was banned, but at least didn’t make a scene.

Your New "Dream Guy"

Dear Dreamers,

Dreams remind each of us that life presents us with two different worlds that we navigate in unique ways. To make sense of our day-to-day life—how we interact with our job, our family and friends—we compose and tell ourselves different narratives to help us stay the course, to have a sense of order in our lives, to give our lives meaning.

But at nighttime, during our sleep, we enter a world where all bets are off. During dreamtime the part of our nature that is accustomed to running the show during waking time is “offline.” We are guided instead by the mysterious world of our unconscious mind. And the unconscious has its own stories to show and tell us. And that’s what we call dreaming.

Because the unconscious mind communicates to our conscious mind with images, colors, sounds and sensations that do not obey the law of physics, our dreams can seem wild, amazing, psychedelic and occasionally frightening; but always our dreams are an attempt by our unconscious to offer us hints or clues as to how we can live a richer, more balanced life.

The honoring and “reading” of dreams is an ancient ceremony that spans the long train of time and occurs within all cultures. So each and every time you have a dream you are participating in this sacred and mysterious phenomenon. The planet has been dreaming since the beginning of time. Welcome to the magic!

If I can impart one secret at the start of my time with each of you it would be this:

No matter how unnerving or thrilling your dream, always remember that the dream is a gift and should not be feared or taken as a bad omen. Even the most disturbing dream narratives are an attempt by the unconscious to show us something we might be missing in our busy lives. Be that a solution to a problem, a way to soothe difficult relationship issues, or basic facts related to our instinctive drives: our needs for security, safety, and love.

Having worked with clients for over forty years, many of whom have shared their dreams with me in the course of our work together, I can attest to the innate wisdom and guidance that comes from our dreams—if we can honor the dream and find ways to understand them, we will be rewarded with new perspectives, possibilities, and solutions.

For several decades each of you have been in the wise and wonderful care of this paper’s Dream Lady. I’m humbled and honored to assume the role of assisting you to find keys, hints or possible meaning from your dreams, just as she did for the past 35 years. Thank you, Dream Lady, for keeping the ancient art alive!

Some pointers for each of you:

- Dreams can be fickle and shy. But if you take the intention to engage with your dreams you will find they arise more readily and vividly. So make it a ritual to have a notebook and pen or pencil on your nightstand to scribble out notes or keywords that can help you recall your dream once you are fully awake in the morning. And then write the dream down while having your tea or coffee. Often people think, “Oh, this dream is so vivid, for sure I’ll recall it in the morning.” But then when they begin their day they have forgotten all about the dream.
  - Hey, guess what? Men dream too you know. So guys, get out those notebooks and write out your dreams. Take a chance at letting another part of your nature offer you wisdom and insights you might miss otherwise. Send in your dreams!
- You can mail your dreams to Dream Guy, P.O. Box 527, Vashon WA 98070. I cannot answer each dream individually, but those printed here will be given my best efforts.
- I’m looking forward to helping you unravel one of life’s most fascinating pursuits—the reading of dreams and the symbolic guidance the dream might offer you.
- Sweet dreams! — The Dream Guy

Horoscopes for January 2018

ARIES (MAR 21-APR 20): In the old horse and buggy days, blinders were developed to keep the big animals from getting spooked and running wild. Think about employing this trick for the New Year. You need to apply limitations to focus on the essential and what will assist you in achieving your hearts desire. This means surrendering to scheduling and forced slow-downs. Your nature prefers impulse and spontaneity, but this is a year for metered progress.
Lucky Days: 4 - 19
Lucky Numbers: 34 - 47

TAURUS (APR 21-MAY 21): Sometimes we need to trade simplicity and order for a little bit of chaos to shake things up in a creative way. Don't dig in your heels and resist the urge for radical transformation. You'll benefit most this year by putting yourself in direct contact with nature—your earthy disposition finds the rhythm of weather and organic life a constant source of rejuvenation and inner revelation. Follow its lead.
Lucky Days: 8 - 24
Lucky Numbers: 2 - 50

GEMINI (MAY 22-JUN 21): Make this your aphorism for 2018, from wise man George Bernard Shaw: "Progress is impossible without change, and those who cannot change their minds cannot change anything." The New Year offers you the opportunity to channel your keen mental skills into solving mysteries that might otherwise appear irrational. There is a secret side to life and this is your year to discover it.
Lucky Days: 18 - 27
Lucky Numbers: 9 - 58

CANCER (JUN 22-JUL 22): There's a persistent pressure on you throughout 2018 to crack out of your safety shell and engage with the world in an entirely new way. You'll need to use your intuition to flow like water through paths of least resistance. Moods can be inspirational, but you can't always count on them to galvanize your will power. Let your empathetic nature guide the way. Kindness always wins.
Lucky Days: 12 - 30
Lucky Numbers: 2 - 44

LEO (JUL 23-AUG 23): As the king or queen of the jungle it's difficult for you to engage with the common chores of life that make the world go around for the rest of us. This year finds you working with the small details, making repairs on your home (and health) and allowing yourself to experience the wisdom of humility. Remember this from Geroqe Arliss: "Humility is the only true wisdom by which we prepare our minds for all the possible changes of life."

Lucky Days: 23 - 29
Lucky Numbers: 5 - 30

VIRGO (AUG 24-SEP 23): The New Year finds you ready and willing to move from caterpillar to butterfly. As good as this sounds on paper it can be unnerving for the shy virgin to place herself directly in the limelight. Don't force it. Find a way to move incrementally, at your own speed, into the world at large. We're eager to see and hear your insights about efficiency, frugality and applying commonsense to complex problems.
Lucky Days: 12 - 23
Lucky Numbers: 18 - 49

LIBRA (SEP 24-OCT 23): You have a reputation for discovering harmony and beauty in the most unlikely places. Your love of order serves you well, until it doesn't. And then you surprise everyone with your argumentative and pushy side. Alas, even those bursts of vigor are in service of striking a balance. 2018's central theme will involve a more pro-active, assertive side of your nature. Don't be afraid to tip the scales occasionally.
Lucky Days: 8 - 18
Lucky Numbers: 44 - 56

SCORPIO (OCT 24-NOV 22): You make a radical departure with tradition in 2018—and then live to tell and share your newfound wisdom with the rest of us. No sign understands resurrection better than yours. Remember, when one story is winding to a close that means a brand new chapter is about to be writ. Life is a continual motion of endings and renewal. Make that dance central throughout the New Year.
Lucky Days: 23 - 27
Lucky Numbers: 7 - 65

SAGITTARIUS (NOV 23-DEC 21): You're a natural born philosopher. Small details bore you and you're much more interested in teaching than playing the role of student. But 2018 finds this pattern upended. The most effective instructor is someone who, at heart, still harbors the curiosity of a novice. Allow yourself to surrender to the movement between these two poles of wisdom. In the end you'll feel more satisfied and inspired.
Lucky Days: 7 - 13
Lucky Numbers: 9 - 53

CAPRICORN (DEC 22-JAN 20): You like a steady base of operation that allows you to build slowly towards your goals. But 2018 has a few surprises on the home front that will force you to rethink your most reliable strategies. Don't get waylaid by the disruptions, in fact pay attention to what family members are telling you; someone from that group holds a key that will allow you to open the door on a lifelong dream.

Lucky Days: 22 - 29
Lucky Numbers: 8 - 49

AQUARIUS (JAN 21-FEB 19): Turn around, look behind you. It's time to reevaluate and reclaim accomplishments from the past. Reconnecting with former victories instills the confidence you need to jump into the New Year with enthusiasm and hope. The catch is you'll need to discard dead wood. Study carefully what's been weighing you down and then make a clean break. You want to feel light on your feet for the new adventures ahead.
Lucky Days: 8 - 29
Lucky Numbers: 56 - 69

PISCES (FEB 20-MAR 20): You shoot into 2018 like a rocket, fueled by a newfound group of likeminded souls who share a similar vision. It's true: You prefer solitude and time outs to recalibrate your sensitive psyche, but now it's time to see what mingling with others will accomplish. If you've one new goal to stay true to this year, make it involve the act of sharing. Great minds not only think alike, but they achieve more with camaraderie.
Lucky Days: 25 - 30
Lucky Numbers: 45 - 59

The New CARE Act

The Department of Veterans Affairs is proposing the new Veterans Coordinated Access and Rewarding Experiences (CARE) Act and has sent those ideas to the House and Senate Veterans Affairs committee.

The original CHOICE Act gave veterans the option of getting medical care closer to home, outside of a VA facility, if they lived more than 40 miles from one or couldn't get an appointment for 30 days. That was a good step, except when it came to determining just what "40 miles" meant. Was it as the crow flies, or was it by long and winding road? And yes, it sounded great to be able to access care mere miles from one's home ... except the contact number to make appointments was involved in a scam (a difference between an 800 and an 866 phone number). And yes, the whole thing sounded fine, except that care providers were bailing due to lack of payment.

This new CARE Act proposes to simplify eligibility requirements, implement new care coordination support, and streamline clinical and admin processes.

Said VA Secretary Dr. David

Shulkin, "We want veterans to work with their VA physicians to make informed decisions that are best for their clinical needs, whether in the VA or in the community." Which means what? That the third-party vendor will no longer need to approve your request to go outside the system?

VA officials are, however, proposing to change the 40-mile, 30-day difficulty rule that has kept many veterans from getting care. There are other items as well: tools to strengthen VA care, partner with other federal agencies and "business process enhancements to improve financial management." I suspect this last one means "paying bills on time so community-care providers won't quit or send the bill to the veteran."

To find out how quickly your nearest facility can see you, go online to www.accesstocare.va.gov.

A Big Bingo Bonanza!

Dear Aunt Bingo:

My friends and I decided this past fall that we were going to start the New Year right—by winning a big Bingo jackpot sometime before the end of January. We figured it was great way to kick off 2018 and set in motion what we dubbed our “Year of Big-Ass Winning.” Plus, we knew that Bingo attendance got lighter during the winter, which also could boost our odds of winning sooner rather than later.

The plan was to make it through the holidays and then do a team Bingo marathon right after New Year's. We would hit a bunch of small Bingo games as well as make a few casino trips. The goal was to score a win of $500 or more, which we would split four ways between us, and set in motion what we were confident would be lots more Bingo prizes in the months to come.

Something about this New Year's plan got our Bingo juices flowing, however, and we found ourselves getting a jump on our plans by going to considerably more Bingo much sooner than expected.

We had a copy of your newspaper, and each time we met for Bingo we'd go through the directory and plot our next trip. An added bit of fun was picking games we'd never been to in other parts of town, which made us feel adventurous. When we branched out to these new neighborhoods we also scoped the areas for little local diners and restaurants to try out. It led us to some amazing food—Thai, Vietnamese, Polish and other nationalities. It was really fun.

We're all pretty budget conscious and stuck with the smaller games, but by mid-November we were itching to hit one of the upstate New York casinos. We went with the closest one, piled into the car and were off.

Following our now usual pattern, we went early and had lunch at one of the casino bistros before heading to the Bingo room. The Bingo games were mid-session, so we went for a walk through the other gaming areas while we waited the 30 minutes before the next session started.

My friend Lisa wanted to do the slots, so we gathered around her to watch her play. On her third spin, the bells and whistles went off: Just like that she won $350! "Bingo's on me!" she shouted and we all cheered.

We still had a few minutes to kill, and the excitement of Lisa's slots win was more than enough for us all to take a seat at another bank of slots and play for a bit. We were getting close to the time to leave for Bingo, and I gave my slot machine one more spin. Bing Bing Bing! I won $200!

My friend Elaine clapped her hands and chanted: "The Year of Big-Ass Winning, the Year of Big-Ass Winning!" and we all laughed and began chanting with her. It was a little early, but we weren't going to complain.

With two slots wins under our belts, none of us had particularly high hopes of walking away with any of the casino's Bingo money, but we were all having a good time and headed to the Bingo room nonetheless.

The room was pretty full, but we did our buy-in and found some decent seats near the caller. We chatted and daubed away for a half-dozen games or so, when Lisa got quiet.

"Guys, I'm one away in two spots," she whispered as we were playing through a triple Bingo.

“Get out, we’ve barely started,” I said, thinking she was just kidding around.

"I mean it. Look!"

Sure enough, she had daubed practically every number called so far.

“The Year of Big-Ass Winning,

the Year of Big-Ass Winning...!"

Elaine began saying, and we all started chanting again.

"Bingo!" The caller finally called O-61, one of Elaine's numbers.

We all cheered. We were about to split $1,350!

Our plan had been to make 2018 the Year of Big-Ass Winning, but 2017 apparently had other ideas. Thank you, 2017!

YOU ASK THE SENIOR QUESTION
~ WE FIND THE SAVVY ANSWER

Exercise for Arthritis

Dear Savvy Senior,

What exercises are best suited for seniors with arthritis? I have osteoarthritis in my neck, back, hip and knee and have read that exercises can help ease the pain and stiffness, but I don't know where to start, and I certainly don't want to aggravate it.—Stiff and Achy

Dear Stiff,

Many people who have arthritis believe that exercise will worsen their condition, but that's not true. Exercise is actually one of the best treatments for osteoarthritis.

Proper and careful exercises can help reduce joint pain and stiffness, strengthen muscles around the joints and increase flexibility.

Recommended Exercises

It's best to work with your doctor or a physical therapist to help you develop a personalized exercise program. The different types of exercises that are most often recommended to seniors with arthritis include:

* Range-of-motion exercises: These are gentle stretching exercises that can relieve stiffness as well as improve your ability to move your joints through their normal range of motion.

* Strengthening exercise: Calisthenics, weight training and working with resistance bands are recommended.

* Aerobic exercises: Low-impact activities like walking, cycling, swimming or water aerobics are all recommended three to five times per week to help improve cardiovascular health, control weight, and improve your overall function.

It's also important to keep in mind that when you first start exercising, you need to go slow to give your body time to adjust.

Start by warming up with some simple stretches or range of motion exercises before you move on to strengthening or aerobic exercises. If you're experiencing a lot of pain while you exercise, you may need to modify the frequency, duration, or intensity of your exercises until the pain improves.

Exercising Aids

To help you exercise at home, the Arthritis Foundation offers a variety of free online videos to guide you through a variety of exercises.

If you need some motivation or don't like exercising alone, ask your doctor about exercise programs in your area for people with arthritis.

Coming to Mystic Lake

The Commodores, Feb. 16

'70s funk and R&B stars The Commodores will take the Mystic Showroom stage at 8 p.m. Friday, February 16.

For three decades, the Commodores have remained a force in the music industry. They're not just any group—they have staying power. Just like their hit song "Brick House," the Commodores have created a foundation that just won't budge. After churning out hit after hit in the Motown days, the Commodores achieved Grammy recognition in 1986 when they released "Night Shift."

In 1968 the group was formed while all the members were in college at Tuskegee Institute. After being discovered by Berry Gordy, the Commodores went on to sell over 60 million records for Motown. With hits like "Machine Gun" and "Sail On", the Commodores became proven artists.

Unlike many other groups, the Commodores haven't rested on their early hits and have continued to put out quality work. With the creation of their new label—Commodores Records and Entertainment—they released Commodores Hits Vol. I, Commodores Hits Vol. II, Commodores Christmas, and Commodores XX-No Tricks. The newest CD "Commodores Live" was recorded during the groups 1997 U.S. tour and released in December 1998 along with the TV special of the same name.

Sammy Hagar, March 30

Renowned rocker Sammy Hagar will take the Mystic Showroom stage at 8 p.m. Friday, March 30.

For almost 40 years, Sammy Hagar has been one of rock music's most dynamic and prolific artists. From breaking into the industry with the seminal hard rock band Montrose to his multi-platinum solo career to his ride as the front man of Van Halen, the "Red Rocker" has set the tone for some of the greatest rock anthems ever written with songs like "I Can't Drive 55," "Right Now" and "Why Can't This Be Love."

Hagar has earned the highest respect of the music industry with a Grammy Award and induction into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame alongside Van Halen. He is currently on his fourth platinum run with the super group Chickenfoot. Along his journey, Hagar has also become a dedicated philanthropist, a New York Times best-selling author and auspicious entrepreneur. For more information, visit redrocker.com.

What's New in Nevada

Bye-Bye Red Ink

There are smiles in many boardrooms in the wake of the announcement that during the fiscal year 2016, Nevada's largest gaming palaces actually turned a profit. That is the first time in eight years that, when all the numbers were in, there was more black ink than red ink. Oddly, though, much of the uptick was not because of what happened on the gaming floor, but what happened in other areas of the casinos and hotels. Aggressive advertising has led to better room revenue and better numbers at other operations, such as restaurants and non-gaming sales areas.

Virgin Brand Vegas Bound?

Is billionaire entrepreneur Richard Branson preparing to bring the Virgin Hotel brand to Las Vegas? There are published reports that a spokeswoman for Virgin Hotels has confirmed that Branson is scoping out possible locations for one of his properties. Branson's possible entry into Las Vegas is still some time in the future and still enigmatic. Branson's people are continuing to be tight-lipped about future plans, citing that complete secrecy is necessary for future projects to work. Three of Branson's air carriers, Virgin Atlantic, Virgin Holidays and Virgin America, are frequent visitors to the Las Vegas McCarran International Airport.

Palms Outlines Remodel

Owners of the Palms Hotel-Resort tell media that the redecoration of the Palms will include new "nightlife" opportunities. Additionally, a cadre of so-called "celebrity chefs" will host restaurants there. The Palms, located about a mile west of the Las Vegas Strip, was opened in the late fall of 2001. The company claims the remodel work will result in a completely new facility. Sixty guest rooms will be added, both a day- and night club are planned, with the entire renovation to be completed sometime in 2019. The work could cost half-a-billion dollars.

Facts on Becoming a Blackjack Dealer

I often get inquiries from players who are interested in becoming blackjack dealers. What follows is an excerpt I conducted a few years ago with Nick Kallos, owner of the Casino Gaming Schools of Nevada. Nick’s answers pertain to dealing in Las Vegas; in other gambling jurisdictions, the requirements may be slightly different. Nevertheless, the Q&A gives you some idea on what’s involved in becoming a blackjack dealer.

Are there any requirements to be a dealer?

The minimum age to deal in a casino in Nevada is 21. Before dealers are hired they will undergo a background check, which varies from one casino to another. Generally they expect the prospective dealer to be drug free (they will be tested), have no jail time and have their finances in order (no major debts). Once a dealer is hired he or she applies for a gaming card, which costs $75 and is valid for 7 years.

How long does it take to complete a course in your school?

It depends on the game. Blackjack, for example, is one of the easiest games to deal, and typically students complete their training (100 hours) in 3 to 6 weeks or less. Craps and roulette are more complicated games and it usually takes a student 6 weeks to complete the training. Poker is very popular and we teach a 5-week course (100 hours) on how to deal poker that includes Omaha High/Low, Stud and Hold’Em.

What does it cost to go to dealer’s school?

Our tuition is $299 for blackjack or roulette, $349 for craps, and $799 for poker. If a student wants to learn two table games, excluding poker, the cost is $500.

Once a student completes his training, how does he or she get a job?

The student has to audition with a casino that has an opening. How the student performs during the audition is what determines whether or not they get the job. That’s why I conduct two live, mock auditions with all of my students—one with their lead instructor and if the student passes, a final audition with me. I also give students feedback on their performance to better prepare them for the real world.

How much money does a dealer earn?

New dealers earn $5.25 per hour in wages plus tips, which can vary depending upon where they work. At a break-in casino they can expect to earn about $300 per week at their first job. After a short while, they should be able to audition for a dealing job at a larger casino where they can earn as much as $400-$450 per week. After a year or more of experience they can apply for jobs that pay as much as $600-$700 per week or more. Dealers who work the plush casinos in Las Vegas that cater to high rollers (Venetian, Caesar’s Palace, Bellagio, MGM Grand, Palms, and the Hard Rock) can get $200+ per day in tips. The hourly wage for dealers in some casinos increases over time up to $7.40 per hour (based on longevity on the job and job performance). Dealers also get excellent benefits including medical, dental and 401K plans. The potential is there to make a good living, but of course it depends on the dealer’s personality, attitude, and dealing skills.

Are the stories about high rollers occasionally tipping dealers thousands of dollars true?

Yes. For example, a few years ago a player tipped as much as $250,000 per day over the three days he stayed at a high-end Strip casino. Dealers call players who tip large amounts of money “King Georges.”

What makes a person a successful casino dealer?

Their personality and attitude are the keys. Successful dealers are well groomed in their appearance, friendly, helpful, have a positive attitude, interact well with players, and are happy to be a dealer. Casinos figure that dealer’s skills at dealing will always improve. What they look for is the package: a pleasant individual with a good attitude and the ability to deal. If they have these characteristics it will show in their job performance and result in a positive playing experience for players.

A cartoon illustration of Clark Kent as a superhero. He is wearing a cape and a mask, and is holding a newspaper. He is standing next to a woman who is saying, "You're my hero! How can I thank you?" He is also saying, "I'd love to talk, but I have a lot more people to help today." The cartoon is signed "7/2".

Healthy, Easy Soup

Dear Annie,
I am a working Mom with eight-year-old twin daughters. They like soup. Can you give me a recipe for a healthy, easy soup to make for them. Sometimes we just have soup and sandwiches for dinner. Thanks a lot. — Ellie May from Easton, Pa.

Dear Ellie May,
Here are two recipes for a vegetable soup. You can choose the ingredients you have on hand. Of course, using frozen vegetables makes this recipe much easier, however, you can use a combination of both fresh and/or frozen vegetables. —Annie

ANNIE’S EASY SOUP WITH FROZEN VEGETABLES
12 cups liquid of your choice
10 cups boxed chicken or beef broth
2 cups tomato juice - plain or spicy and/or
2 cups diced fresh tomatoes, canned and pureed
2-4 cloves garlic (minced)
1 large onion diced
salt and pepper, to taste
or
1-2 teaspoons Natures Seasons
6 cups total frozen vegetables

Using a large soup pot, bring the broth and tomato liquids of choice to a boil. Add the garlic, diced onions and seasonings.

Simmer on a medium to low heat for 15 minutes. Drop in the frozen vegetables. Bring the soup to a boil. Lower heat to medium-low for about 30 minutes, or until the veggies are tender. Add additional seasoning, if necessary, to taste. Serves 6 to 8.

ANNIE’S EASY SOUP WITH FRESH AND/OR FROZEN VEGETABLES

2-4 cloves garlic (minced)
1 large onion diced
salt and pepper, to taste
or
1-2 teaspoons Natures Seasons
6 cups total fresh vegetables green beans - stems and tails removed, sliced beets-diced
white potatoes- peeled and diced celery-diced
carrots-sliced
squash-seeded and sliced or diced
spinach

Using a large soup pot, bring the broth and tomato liquids of choice to a boil. Add the garlic, onions and seasonings. Simmer on a medium to low heat for 15 minutes. Add the fresh vegetables (give the green beans, beets and potatoes a 5-10 minutes head start). Add any frozen vegetables now, if you are using them. Bring the soup back to a boil. Now add the fresh vegetables, except for the spinach (save for the last 3 minutes). Bring the soup back to a boil. Then turn down the heat and simmer for 20 to 30 minutes. Add additional seasonings to taste. Serves 6 to 8.

or not. Although federal law is supreme, everyone knew that states had inherent police powers, the fundamental right to protect the health, safety, welfare and morality of their residents. Except in extreme situations, where other states were endangered, there simply was no reason, let alone power, for the federal government to get involved.

Think fire departments—we don’t want Congress to be in charge of fighting fires.

Prior to the Civil War, some states, especially in the South, took the position that they could ignore decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court. Today, only the lunatic fringe, like Alabama Republican Senate Candidate and accused child molester Roy Moore, believe they have the right to decide which rulings of the nation’s highest court they will respect.

When the original 13 colonies won their independence from England, they were essentially little nations. They realized that they were too weak to survive alone, so they created a federation, voluntarily giving up their power to declare war and make treaties. Sure, the U.S. Constitution had a Supremacy Clause; but everyone knew the new federal government had very limited power. If it wasn’t in the Constitution, then the power resided with the people and the states. The United States was exactly that: a federation of states united for common defense.

The Confederate states actually believed they could leave this federation. The Civil War was mostly about slavery, but it was also about states’ rights. One of the reasons Abraham Lincoln’s Gettysburg Address is so important is that it was the first time a President spoke of the United States in the singular, not the plural: Lincoln made it clear that the United States IS a country, not the United States ARE merely in a federation.

But still, even after the federal government won the Civil War, no one thought the states had given up their inherent police powers.

In fact, even today, there are areas of the law that are so clearly within the power of states alone that they are not even mentioned in the Constitution or federal statutes. Federal courts, for example, clearly have the power to decide big money cases where the plaintiff and defendant are from different states. But no federal court will hear a divorce case. Marital status is exclusively a state issue.
