COVID 19 UPDATE

During this global health crisis Delta Psychological remains committed to our community to provide quality mental health support.

To our existing clients: Be assured that we remain available to work with you. Our entire treatment staff has converted their worksites to remote therapy options. Please remain in contact with your therapist as these details are worked out.

To our new clients: We continue our availability to begin working with you. Please call the office to make specific arrangements to begin therapy. Though clerical staff coverage has been reduced, messages left at the office number (989-895-0788) are checked regularly.

To our community: We continue to strive to provide quality mental health support services. Our therapists are on the job and creatively solving the issues as we all work to maintain our connections with you and your referrals.

Please, please stay safe and stay well. The other side of this is on its way and we will all be there.
