

Kevin Kamau

Kevin is often willing to stay extra hours when needed to so that the people he works with can attend outings and activities that are important to them. He has worked at MYEP off and on for 5+ years, at multiple sites, and has developed strong bonds with the individuals he serves over that time. Kevin understands that going to church is very important to the people he works with and if there isn't a second staff on in the mornings on Sundays he is willing to stay past his shift so that they can attend church. Kevin is also almost always willing to come in early, stay late, cover shifts, etc. The people he serves really appreciate his willingness to help out; as do the staff and lead. Kevin uses his sense of humor to joke around with the individuals and keeps smiles on their faces during his shifts. One of the individuals that are more particular about cares enjoys when Kevin completes their cares and seems happy when he works with her. Kevin is also open to feedback and quick to make improvements when needed.
