Ratings and Reviews for Green Building Materials: Outdoor Fencing & Decking

Mendocino Redwood Company

Mendocino Redwood Company fencing and decking are certified by the Forest Stewardship Council and come from the coastal redwood forests of Northern California. You can rest assured that MRC redwood is beautiful, long-lasting and sustainable. A full line of FSC-certified redwood is now available at Home Depot stores throughout the greater San Francisco Bay Area. To find a store near you, click here

PrairieFence

Heartland BioComposites produces alternative wood composite products that are more sustainable, environmentally friendly and are superior in performance and quality than commercially available Wood, Vinyl and Wood Plastic Composite products. The PrairieFence™ system is primarily composed of reclaimed HDPE and wheat straw. The use of HDPE diverts used, non-biodegradable plastic from overburdened, public landfills and gives it new life by creating green building supplies. Purchasing PrairieFence™ not only ensures that you have the best looking and longest lasting fence, but it lessens the burden on forests and over-flowing landfills. Because of Heartland BioComposites, annually produced wheat fields now not only feed us, but are prairie forests that help support human kind's building needs. Unlike traditional wood, our products will not crack, decay or rot. Our products have increased strength, are more fire resistant, and do not contribute to deforestation. In addition they are splinter-free, contain no toxic chemicals or preservatives, resist moisture, insects and sunlight, and require minimal maintenance.
