A Note from Rick: Markets were steady to stronger this week at TLA. We had a good run of Holstein heifers for the special feeder sale on Tuesday and prices were steady for the most part. Holstein steers were a little softer along with baby calves. Slaughter cows were stronger again along with slaughter bulls. The special Springer sale on Thursday was a little up and down in my opinion. The top end of the heifers were a little stronger, but I didn't think the market was as consistent throughout. The middle grade heifers, which were still pretty good quality, were a little weaker. The weather has definitely warmed up and for the most part the crops are planted. Grain markets have eased up a little but still pose a big threat to the livestock industry. There is still a lot of uncertainty on this matter and that is showing in these markets for sure. Hope you all have a great week and hope to see you soon at TLA!
