BRISTOL PRESERVING CROCKS

Our multi-functional preserving crocks serve many uses. Traditionally, they are used for preserving vegetables, such as cucumbers for pickling, and cabbage for sauerkraut. Crock filled with food for fermentation purposes should be kept in cool, dry environments. This allows the fruits and vegetables to ferment naturally. Our preserving crocks can also be used for everyday purposes, such as pantry storage and kitchen containers. Our lead-free glazes make our preserving crocks safe and easy to clean. They are also oven, microwave, and dishwasher safe.

WATER SEAL FERMENTATION CROCKS

Fermentation is one of the oldest, easiest, and healthiest ways to preserve and ferment food. Natural, lactic acid fermentation allows vegetables to retain more vitamins and minerals than most other methods.

3-Piece 3 Gallon Water Seal Fermentation Crock
#11709

- These crocks are designed for making bountiful batches of sauerkraut, pickles, and preserving other foods.
- The two semi-circular stone weights rest on top of the food inside the crock and create pressure needed for proper fermentation.
- The lead-free, food-safe glaze will not retain the food's flavors and makes clean up easy.

UTILITY CROCKS

Our multi-functional utility crocks serve many uses including small batch preserving, and everyday uses, such as pantry storage and kitchen containers. Crocks filled with food for fermentation purposes should be kept in a cool, dry environment. This allows the vegetables or fruits to ferment naturally. Our crocks are safe and easy to clean due to our lead-free glazes. They are also oven, microwave, and dishwasher safe. Our utility crocks are available in Bristol, as well as the colors shown below.

Made in America

Celebrating 15 Years

Ohio Stoneware is excited to celebrate 15 years in business on July 9, 2020. The last two years have been very exciting, as we made a large acquisition, which nearly doubled our manufacturing and warehouse space. We moved our offices, warehouse, and part of our manufacturing to 1719 Dearborn Street (formerly Hartstone Pottery, and before that, the historic Owens Pottery), which was the site of the largest illegal distillery bust during the prohibition. This acquisition will allow us to grow our current product offering, but also expand into areas we have not been able to in the past, which include hand painted artisan pottery, a larger line of custom ware, and more dinnerware items. Look for updates as we introduce new product lines.

We continue to be a family operated business in the heart of what used to be the Pottery Capital of the World. From humble beginnings, when the product line contained only ten items to the diverse business we are today, we pride ourselves in manufacturing quality American Made stoneware. Whether you're looking for a utilitarian piece for everyday use, or a hand painted heirloom that can be passed down for generations, we'd like to be your first choice for your retail business. If you are a current customer, we sincerely appreciate your business and support over the years. If you are thinking about doing business with us, we welcome you to contact us and learn more about Ohio Stoneware!
