

Build relationships and writing skills using this Monday morning writing activity!

Free From...

teaching notes

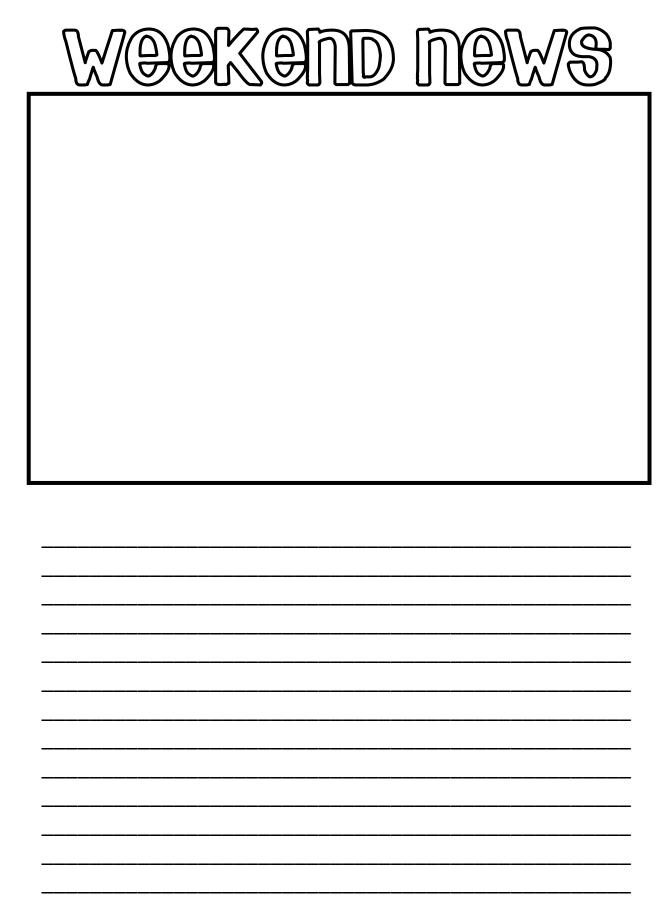

I always try to have something ready for my students to work on as soon as they come in during the mornings. This gets them focused and ready to learn.

One of my favorite things to do on Monday mornings is have the students complete the "Weekend News" activity. Students draw a picture of something they did over the weekend then write a paragraph describing the event.

This activity does multiple things. It helps the students with writing, and it gives them an opportunity to share events that happened during the weekend. Reading their writings helps me learn about their lives.

I love hearing about my students and what their lives are like outside of school. I am sure to comment on their papers, and they absolutely love it!

This activity can also be implemented during centers, for early finishers, before dismissal, etc... You can use it anytime during your day. Feel free to modify to meet your needs. Happy Teaching! ©

I am so grateful that you chose to download this product! Please don't forget to like my TPT store, leave feedback, and visit my blog.

Again,

THANK YOU, THANK YOU, THANK YOU! ©

http://www.atouchofclassteaching.com

http://www.teacherspayteachers.com/Store/A-Touch-Of-Class-Teaching

Disclaimers:

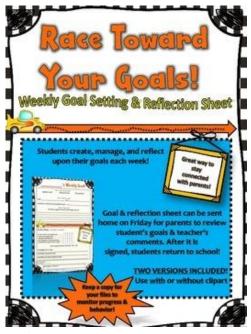

The Common Core Standards were written and developed by The National Governors Association Center for Best Practices and Council of Chief State School Officers.

Any claims of alignment to the CCSS Standards are only by Stephanie Kirk. These claims have not been read, evaluated, or approved by he National Governors Association.

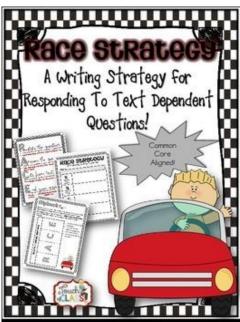

© Stephanie Kirk www.atouchofclassteaching.com

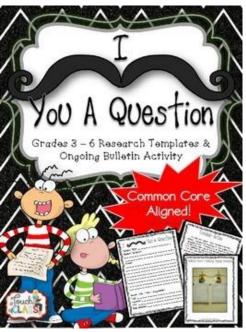

If you liked this ..

You should check out my other products!

© Stephanie Kirk www.atouchofclassteaching.com

CLIPART CREDITS

