MAY 2019

Note: Irish-American Society meetings are usually held on the second Friday of each month, except during July and August (and for special events). The meeting location is the Memorial Hall at the First Unitarian Church, 3701 Carlisle Blvd NE, SW corner of Comanche and Carlisle.

Lecture on Irish Genealogy

At our May meeting, members of the Albuquerque Genealogical Society's (AGS) Celtic Special Interest Group (SIG) will present information on how to do basic research on finding your Irish roots and how to get started. AGS members Linda Koch (president) and John Farris (past president) will also cover all the newest DNA information that is coming out of Ireland, including how to use your DNA to connect to a specific place where your family is from in Ireland.

The AGS is a non-profit organization founded in 1972 that promotes genealogical research and provides information about methods for researching, collecting, compiling, sharing, and publishing family history/genealogy. The Celtic SIG meets at the second floor of the main library (downtown) on the last Tuesday of the month from 1:30 to 3 PM. A list of Irish genealogical sources can be found here, and the website of the AGS is here.

Note for New Members:

There is no charge for any of our monthly meeting/programs and you are welcome to bring guests.

We hope to see you there and we hope you will bring a sweet or salty snack to share!

Also in May:

The Rio Grande Valley Celtic Festival is May 4 and 5, at Rotary Park in Bernalillo. (See page 7.)

The IAS will have a booth there both days of the Festival and we need folks to help staff the booth. If you can help out for a couple of hours, you will also get in to the Festival for half price! Let Ellen know if you're interested: edowling@standuptrainer.com.

President's Message

By Ellen Dowling

Dear IAS Members:

Well, the verdict is in: We came really close to breaking even with our St. Patrick's Day party! This is such good news, as for a while there (two weeks before the party) we had only 64 reservations and were deathly afraid that we'd be going into the hole big time. But (as you know from my message last month), we actually sold out, whew! After all expenses are paid, we appear to be in the red by just $70 or so. So once again, kudos all around to everyone who helped pull it off! The IAS board held a party post mortem and we've identified places where we need to improve for next year. If you have any suggestions to add, please let me know.

Welcome to our newest Board Member, Gwen Easterday! We can still use another member-at-large—let me know if you'd like to join our hard working (but having lots of fun) group. Board meetings are the first Thursday of the month at 7 PM at the GAC.

Special thanks to Michael and Donna Coy, the wonderful "Friends Forever" who performed at our April 12th meeting. (I posted a snippet of their playing on Facebook.) And to all who helped us set up and clean up. Looking forward to our next meeting on May 10th, with genealogical research info from members of the Albuquerque Genealogical Society!

But before that meeting, there's the Rio Grande Valley Celtic Festival coming up on May 4th and 5th, at Rotary Park in Bernalillo. WE NEED FOLKS TO HELP US STAFF THE IAS BOOTH AT THE FESTIVAL! If you can work for just two hours, you can purchase a two-day ticket to the Festival for half price! Plus, it's really a fun gig: You get to sit in the shade and schmooze with passers-by about all things Irish. Let me know if you can help out (edowling@standuptrainer.com).

Membership Report

By Brynn Cole

Céad Mile Fáilte (A Hundred Thousand Welcomes) to our newest members, Joan Carolina and Joseph Morris!

As of 4/16, there are 5 students, 76 individuals, and 59 families, which in total is 199 members!

Message from Norita Callahan:

RONALD MCDONALD HOUSE STILL SEEKING PULL-TAB DONATIONS! The aluminum or steel pull tabs donated from beverage cans or ANY kind of canned food (6000 + pounds annually) generate funds to offset the House expenses. YOUR donations make a significant impact and are very much appreciated. A HUGE bag, 7+ lbs. (weighed it 😊) of pull tabs was brought to the April IAS meeting. The gallon baggies of tabs were faithfully collected for years for the Ronald McDonald House by the US Forest Service employees, Jemez District. Thank you to Barbara Silva, Ron Gallegos, Kimberly Gachupin, and of course, thanx to IAS members Terry Heslin and Phyllis Martinez who contributed to the bags. Thanx also to Rosalie & Dennis Pfeiffer and John Uher.

The Irish Book Club is now online! If you are on Facebook, just type The Irish Book Club into the search bar (or click on <https://www.facebook.com/groups/2022642747761043/>) and you'll find us. In March, we did something a little different and read a play—The Ferryman by Jez Butterworth. (We even did an out-loud reading of the play, thank you very much for setting it up, Kathy Wimmer, and had a blast doing lots of different parts.) Our book for April, which we're reading now, is An Apology for Roses by John Broderick.

The Ferryman, by Jez Butterworth

From Amazon:

Armagh, 1981. The Carney farmhouse is a hive of activity with preparations for the annual harvest. A day of hard work on the land and a traditional night of feasting and celebrations lie ahead. But this year they will be interrupted by a visitor. Developed by Sonia Friedman Productions, The Ferryman premiered at the Royal Court Theatre, London, in April 2017, before transferring to the West End. The production was directed by Sam Mendes.

The play is now on Broadway, getting great reviews like this one from the New York Times: “No matter what sort of spread you’ve planned for your Thanksgiving dinner, it won’t be a patch on the glorious feast that has been laid out at the Bernard B. Jacobs Theater. That’s where Jez Butterworth’s thrilling new play ‘The Ferryman’ opened on Sunday night, with a generosity of substance and spirit rarely seen on the stage anymore. There is, for the record, a whopping celebratory meal at the center of this endlessly vibrant work, directed with sweeping passion and meticulous care by Sam Mendes. Its main course is a goose, which has figured as a living creature in earlier scenes, and the repast appears to be more than enough to feed the 17 revelers gathered at an overlaid table in rural Northern Ireland in 1981. But the real sustenance provided here comes from the sheer abundance within a work that picked up most of the awards on offer during its London run last year. This is theater as charged and cluttered and expansive as life itself. And the three and a quarter hours and 21 speaking parts required to tell its story — which is at once a shivery suspenser, a hearthside family portrait, a political tragedy and a journey across mythic seas — barely seem long enough to contain all it has to give us.”

Those of us who participated in the reading mostly agreed with this assessment, as did most of the American critics.

Critics from Northern Ireland were not so admiring, especially Sean O’Hagen, writing in The Guardian: “What makes me most uneasy about The Ferryman is the differences the play unconsciously highlights between Irish and English cultural sensibilities, between the Irish people’s idea of themselves and the English idea of them. The attentiveness that ensued when Aunt Maggie sang a lovely Irish air – Yeats’s fairy ode, “The Stolen Child” – was equally mystifying. The notions of Ireland these stereotypes evoke – a wild, unfettered place of terminal boozing and unfettered romanticism – seemed to have somehow endured despite the Troubles, the Celtic Tiger, and even the sudden dramatic appearance in the English psyche of the DUP, who, believe me, are more alarming than those banshees.”

Nevertheless, we all agreed to plan a road trip to Broadway to see it. Anyone else want to come? 😊

Thanks to the continuing support of you, our members, we are able every year to financially support local Irish dance groups.

Recently, our $200 contribution to the Celtic Steps Irish Dancers (whom many of you saw perform at our St. Patrick's Day Party!) helped send GwendylN Noreen to the World Irish Dancing Championships this year for the first time, held in Greensboro, NC. Gwen's dance day was April 14, and she represented New Mexico proudly as the youngest New Mexican ever to qualify!
