

What Must I Do to Inherit Eternal Strife?

You might be wondering why anyone would want to ask such a question. Well, sometimes presenting the negative can get a point across better than the positive. I don't think the negative approach is always the best approach, but it may be the only way to turn someone around.

Let me answer this question with some easy to understand answers.

#1. Develop an "I don't care" type of attitude. Don't care about yourself. Don't be concerned about how you can control your destiny after the grave. Just live for today! Don't care about others which shouldn't be hard if you don't care about yourself. Just love those who are easy to love and hate everyone else. Especially, don't care about God. Just make God your "7-11 god." Come running to Him only when you have a problem.

#2. Be a non-believer. I believe that most people believe in a god of some kind, so when I talk about being a non-believer today, and if you want to inherit eternal strife, then I want to ask you to not believe in Satan. Think of Satan as a myth, that he does not really exist. But, if he is real, then you really have a problem. That means everything the Bible has to say about his power is true too.

#3. Ignore what the Bible says about Hell. Oh, I wish I could tell you that there is no such place as hell, but I cannot. Don't get worried or scared if you want eternal strife. Just take a chance you are right. Wait until you die and find out. Of course it will be too late to say you were wrong, but hey, don't worry about it now!

#4. Ignore what the Bible says about how to avoid eternal strife. If you want to go to Heaven, then you just need directions. If you want eternal strife, then just be ignorant to them.

Ignore scriptures such as Acts 2:37-38, "When the people heard this, they were cut to the heart and said to Peter and the other apostles, 'Brothers, what shall we do?' Peter replied, 'Repent and be baptized, every one of you, in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins. And you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.'"

Choose eternal life, not strife.
