A Note from Rick: The market on Tuesday was very steady once again. Spring is coming and our numbers have increased in the sheep, goat and hog markets. We had more loads of quality hay this week and the prices reflected that. The beef market continues to be very good. Let's hope that continues. The dairy market is steady, but lower milk futures are bound to impact the market to some degree if they continue to decline. Bull calves continue to sell very well despite continued concerns in the Holstein steer market. Still looking for something to increase demand for Holstein feeder steers. Let's hope green grass does the trick! The spring and summer look to be exciting at TLA. We have lots of auctions planned and are beginning to change the face of TLA. We have had to cancel our Alternative Animal Auction scheduled for May but have big plans for the fall. Come check us out!
