From the Desk of Rabbi Daniel Polish

And Yet

Life is complicated. Love is complicated. As a rabbi I have met with families distraught by the behavior of one of their members, disturbed by their choices, and appalled by the potential consequences of their actions. And yet. And yet. Family is still family and we are what we've got. And in the end we have to embrace one another. All this probably makes birthday celebrations uncomfortable.

I share this with you as we look beyond Pesach to Yom Ha'Atzmaut/Israel's Independence Day. When I was very young, I celebrated Yom Ha'Atzmaut with unreserved joy. I have, in my life, attended military parades in Beersheba or stayed up late into the night at massive celebrations in Jerusalem. It was all uncomplicated and exuberant.

This year Yom Ha'Atzmaut will find me in a more subdued mood. My distress with decisions of the Israeli government runs in so many directions. And I know I am not alone. Many of you have spoken to me about your outrage at one of Israel's actions or another. The lists are too long. And it now appears that even the leadership of the American Jewish community is beginning to weigh in as well. Important organizations have begun to publicly criticize the government. Not too long ago I sat around a table with a prominent Jewish leader who vociferously defended Israel's Prime Minister and his decisions, only to find an op-ed by this same man in the New York Times last week headlined "Israel's Self-Inflicted Wounds". Clearly the distress of American Jews has percolated up. The mood is undergoing a significant change.

And why? On a recent trip to Rome, I got to spend time with the Israeli Ambassador to the Vatican. He is a lovely man and we had much to talk about. At one point he said me, "It looks like American Jews are becoming very critical of Israel." And he added, in evident sincerity, "I guess that is the fashionable thing to do." I had to respond, "It is not a matter of fashion. It is that we have sincere objections to the policies of your government." We do have sincere objections. And so we look at Israel with different eyes now. Not because of fashion, or whim, but because we take sincere and principled objection to consequential decisions its leaders have made. Is there a Yiddish word for disappointed? Not really. But it is a word we could use today.

And yet. And yet. Israel is still Israel: the modern expression of the ancient homeland about which we read in our sacred texts. Israel is still Israel: the only place in the world that took in the shattered remnant of the destroyed communities of Europe and restored them to life. Israel is still Israel: a refuge for Jews of whatever country who feel themselves in peril. Israel is still Israel: home to our relatives. Israel is like that relative with whose decisions we disagree. But family is family. And though we are not in harmony, love is complicated. We are what we've got. But it does sometimes make Yom Ha'Atzmaut uncomfortable. So, I will be observing Yom Ha'Atzmaut this year with much more complicated emotions. But I will be observing it. I think we all should.

B'Shalom, Rabbi Daniel Polish

Notes from Cantor Gail Hirschenfang

April brings us Jewish Literary and Musical Feasts!

We are truly blessed this month to have not one, but two unique cultural Jewish events in our community. The first will occur on the weekend of April 13-15. It will be a three day visit by the renowned author, Anita Diamant, probably best known for her award-winning book, "The Red Tent". Other literary works of hers include: "The Boston Girl", "Saying Kaddish", "Day After Night" and, her new book, "The Jewish Wedding Now", to name only a few. Ms. Diamant's time in Poughkeepsie is sponsored by Congregation Shir Chadash, Temple Beth El, Vassar Temple and the Schlosberg Fund of the Community Foundations of Dutchess County. She will be speaking on Friday Evening at Vassar Temple, where Rabbi Polish and I will be guests on the Bima along with the Vassar Temple clergy. On Shabbat Morning she will give a different talk at Temple Beth El and, on Sunday Morning, she will be present at Shir Chadash for a brunch and book signing, along with a third talk. It is interesting to note that Ms. Diamant is the founding president of Mayyim Hayyim, Living Waters Community Mikveh and Education Center in Newton, Massachusetts—a reinvention of the ancient Jewish tradition of Mikveh, ritual immersion in water. I urge you to get your taxes done early and enjoy this time with Anita Diamant, a most gifted and wonderful author! Again, her visit will be April 13-15.

Just one week later we will be having our annual concert. On Sunday, April 22nd, our congregation, in collaboration with Vassar College's Jewish Studies Program and the Vassar Jewish Union, will be presenting the outstanding musical group, ASEFA. "Asefa" means meeting with a purpose. That purpose is the melding of musical cultures and styles rarely heard in our western Jewish environment. The upcoming concert is entitled, "Mediterranean Encounters: Judeo-Islamic Soundscapes" and it will focus on the music of the Jews in Arab lands. In a recent conversation with Dr. Thomas, he explained to me that the styles and modes of Middle Eastern music are not 'owned' by any one faith group. The overlap of Jews performing Arabic songs for entertainment and enjoyment was quite common. In my own Syrian Jewish family, I can vividly recall my mother playing her father's old 78 speed records with his most beloved songs—all in Arabic, none on a religious theme.

Dr. Torjman Thomas and other performers in ASEFA will present music in Hebrew, Arabic and Ladino. Ladino is to Spanish what Yiddish is to German; that is to say, it is a mixture of a 14th century dialect of Spanish with Hebrew. Many Ladino folk songs were, in fact, carried down from generation to generation by the women in the family, as they were sung in the home. There are so many fascinating aspects to the music and culture of the Jews in the Arabic world. Dr. Thomas will be presenting a pre-concert talk at 4:00pm and the concert will begin at 5:00pm, on Sunday, April 22nd. A light reception will follow. This concert will be held on the Vassar College campus in the Villard Room of the Main Building. Please keep in mind that this is our temple's most important fund-raising event of the year. Tickets are $25 for adults and $10 for children under 18. (All Vassar College staff, students and faculty are gratis).

Seating is limited and we highly encourage advance reservations by calling: (845) 232- 1029 or through the link at: www.shir-chadash.org where Pay Pal and major credit cards are accepted.

I do hope to see you at the ASEFA concert on Sunday, April 22nd!

L'Shalom, Cantor Gail P. Hirschenfang

A Message from President Lindsey Turner

HAPPY PASSOVER – HAPPY SPRING

Dear Friends,

Yesterday, speaking with Reverend Lent about a small scheduling matter, he told me that this Sunday his little Sunday school kids would be dashing through the playground and the big ones searching through the cemetery for hidden Easter eggs, some real, some chocolate.

I told him that only a few nights later, our children would be searching their homes for the Afikomen to be redeemed with the same enthusiasm and with our kids getting money ... probably to buy the same chocolate after eating the symbolic egg on the Seder plate.

Our spring has already begun well with two very enjoyable social events which brought us together for some fun and of course good eating. Even I got to choose some practical kitchen utensils, thanks to Barbara Stapholtz, that will help Nicky make me even greater dinners. And of course the Dinner at The Diner brought plenty of good food and schmoozing thanks to Victor Feit. And what to say about the wonderful performance of our Shir-Chadashers young and old for our Purim Shpiel and about our wonderful children and teachers for their Mini-Seder. Thanks go to ALL!

But sadly our joy of spring is made less and the importance of the liberation of Passover is colored deeper, stronger, by the news that in our beloved Italy the rumblings of neo –fascists are being heard and here in America an editor, Jonathan Weisman, who is at the Washington desk of the New York Times, accidentally found an alt-right (read Neo-Fascist) group that is using Twitter to target and harass Jews.

Freedom must be struggled for. Once we have it, it must be protected. We cannot take a neutral stance.

The real joy of Passover is active and brings us forward to protect what we love.

*B 'Shalom
Lindsey Turner*

Shir Chadash Joins the Annual Dutchess County-Wide Boxed Cereal Drive

Every summer, children lack access to school-based free breakfast programs. Families really need breakfast food. Daily breakfast has potential physical and mental health benefits for everyone!!!

CEREAL COUNTS!!! is a boxed cereal drive that now occurs each spring. The goal: To work together and reduce breakfast hunger. We are running a drive to support CEREAL COUNTS!!!! Please bring new boxes of cereal to a Shir Chadash Shabbat Service or event or to Mitzvah Day on May 6.

Once the boxes are collected, they will be brought over to Mitzvah Day on Sunday, May 6th and added to the community collection for CEREAL COUNTS!!! 2018. The boxes will then be delivered to pantries and area food distribution sites in Dutchess County. This includes: Dutchess Outreach; Zion Baptist Church pantry; the Reach Out Pantry; St. Paul's; Beulah Baptist Church Pantry; Community Action Partnership pantries in Poughkeepsie, Dover, Beacon and Red Hook; Hudson River Housing/Hillcrest Shelter; the Department of Social Services; and the Interfaith Senior Housing Site. The project is a wonderful way to reduce breakfast hunger in our community.

Hungry summers are coming...

A Message from Sue Marcoe Education Enrichment Coordinator

What a pleasure it was to hear our students singing and reading for us throughout the Mini-Seder on March 17th. Thank you to Grace Bass, Rochelle Bellach, and Cantor Hirschenfang for preparing the students for the Seder. Thank you also to Dena Varble for bringing the eggs, to Wendy Bill for bringing the Matzah, to Jeff Lash as Moses leading us to the Seder, and to Nicky Turner, Kathy Walker and all of you who helped with set up and cleanup. And a big thank you to Rabbi Polish and Cantor Hirschenfang for leading such a lovely service.

In April and May, Grace and Rochelle's students will continue to learn about Bible stories, culminating with a special project to display what they have learned. Leah Polish's Tots class (Kindergarten and first grade) will be learning about Shabbat, Israel Independence Day, and Shavuot through crafts and stories, songs, and games. If you know of any children who could benefit from the program, please let their parents know that whether or not they are members of Shir Chadash, for this year only, there is no charge for the Tot's program, although a donation would be appreciated to cover the cost of materials.

Please do remember that on Sharing Shabbat, teaching time is very limited. Please, please bring your children early for Bagel Time (8:45 before class). School needs to begin promptly at 9:00am upstairs. Unfortunately, no food is allowed in the classrooms. Students can finish their breakfast or get a nosh at Kiddush at 10:30am before services. Also please do join us after class for Sharing Shabbat services. What is important to you becomes important to your children.
