If you provided us with a list of birds, animals, insects, or plants that you want to see, we will do everything that we can to help you find them! We know lots of secret spots to find rare wildlife specimens. But of course, we can't guarantee that nature will cooperate! This tour will take place, rain or shine, and we cannot refund your money due to weather or non-cooperative wildlife. We do not guarantee that you will see everything on your list during this tour, and there will be no refund if we don't complete your list. Our top priority is ensuring your safety and enjoyment. As we explore and interact with the local people and environments, please be mindful that we are ambassadors of the birding and naturalist communities. Please refrain from excessive drinking and consumption of illegal substances for the duration of the program. Please be respectful to your guides, other tour participants, and any other people that we meet along the way. We have zero tolerance for harassment or violent behavior towards others. So that all of our participants can have a safe and fun experience, we reserve the right to warn, suspend, or dismiss any participant who does not adhere to this basic code of conduct, without refund.
