How to Prepare for Your First Acupuncture Session

By Dr. Jocelyn Joy, DAOM, L.Ac.

Congratulations! You have made your first appointment with a Practitioner of Chinese Medicine! Here are some tips which will make your session much easier!

1. If there are online forms you can download and fill out before the appointment do so, it will save time!
2. Arrive a few minutes before your scheduled appointment; allow time for navigating an unfamiliar area and parking.
3. Make sure you have a list of ALL your Medications and Supplements and Vitamins.
4. Don't Brush your Tongue. You might be asked to show your tongue and we like to see it with the coating on even if you drink coffee!
5. List all of your surgeries, major illnesses, and allergies, this helps a lot!
6. Ask Questions! We love to talk about Chinese Medicine!
7. If you must cancel, as a courtesy please give at least 24 hours notice. We schedule out 90 minutes for a new patient.
8. Bring a friend or family member if you are intimidated about going alone.
9. Be clear about what you want help with.
10. Take the suggestions your practitioner gives you! We have a lot of experience with this medicine and know what works, so make the most of your healing journey and follow your treatment plan.
11. Enjoy the appointment, most find acupuncture very relaxing and leave feeling energized, refreshed and sleep like a baby that night!

We hope you have found this information useful.
