

Hill City Experience Too Much for Mariners

By John Sandstrom

The Silver Bay Mariners fell to 1-2 with a 34-15 loss to an experienced Hill City Storm team last Friday night in Silver Bay.

The balance of experience was striking. The Storm dressed sixteen players who were either juniors or seniors. By contrast, the Mariners had three seniors and one junior in uniforms. "That isn't an excuse," said Mariner head coach Ward Kaiser. "I am proud of our effort. Our offense is playing an improved physical game. We are getting better. Young teams tend to make mistakes and we did."

Turnovers were probably the key statistic. The Mariners had five fumbles and lost four of them. "We had some problems with our snaps and that set us back along with an assortment of penalties that frustrated the head coach."

Manor Olman had 11.5 tackles to lead the Mariners while Trenton Meeks added eleven and Jake Stadler had eight. On offense, sophomore Stadler scored on a seventy yard kickoff return and fellow freshman Jacob Carpenter scored the second touchdown on an eight yard run.

When asked about the game, Olman responded, "We are getting more physical. We talked about it all week in practice and I could really notice the difference in the game. You just can't have all the penalties and fumbles and expect to beat an experienced team."

The Mariners play at Carlton-Wrenshall at 7:00 p.m. Friday, October 1st.
