Webmaster

Pete reported that the website and Facebook page are running well and are up-to-date.

New Business

Christopher A. Williams, Esq., Director of Development was in attendance. We discussed our inability to get addresses of recent retirees from the College in order to let them know about RASCC. It was suggested that perhaps the College could send out our information. There were many suggestions one of them being perhaps invite the new retirees to a luncheon free of charge. It was noted that Suffolk employees keep their College e-mail addresses for six months after retirement.

There was a lengthy discussion on the retirement seminars that the College used to offer regarding their options and important information.

Chris suggested that perhaps RASCC could have a table with all our information on Professional Development Day. This seems like a good way to reach out to people and get the word out about our organization. Everyone seemed enthusiastic about this suggestion and also to have a small giveaway.

Marilyn feels that the Personnel office should be able to give one of our brochures to all employees who are retiring. This has been a problem for a long time.

It was also suggested to have a table at one of Suffolk's theatre events. Pete said this was tried in the past and was not very successful.

Marilyn brought up the subject of parking stickers. She feels that retirees should get a parking sticker since many of them volunteer their services.

Newsletter

The next newsletter will not go out until after the holidays.

There was a brief discussion on the Holiday Party. Pete said the invitations were just mailed.

Meeting adjourned at 11:15 am.

Respectfully Submitted,
Marie Basileo, Secretary
