PRCA Bullfighter

Austin Rudloff of Stephenville, Texas grew up around rodeo. Austin's Dad, Gerry Byrn, was a rodeo bullfighter for many years and ultimately retired to own the Diamond Cross Rodeo (Stock Contractor; Rodeo, PBR & Western Event Producer) along with partner, Wesley McManus. Austin spent his childhood immersed in the traditions and hard work of rodeo production.

When Austin was 20 years old he started to professionally fight bulls and rodeoed in 2 Texas circuits, the CPRA and the UPRA. By age twenty-four he earned his Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association permit, a recognition of skill and professionalism in the rodeo arena.

Austin holds a business agriculture degree from Tarleton State University. He spends most days on the road, moving stock, setting up arenas, lending a hand, and helping to keep the sport of rodeo front and center.
