

Rhonda Barnes

Date of Hire: November 1980

Rhonda is a native of Oregon. She attended Pierce College where she majored in marketing then joined us as receptionist, secretary, and office manager. During her tenure Rhonda has continually grown in stature within our firm. She now holds the title of director of communications, which requires her to handle all aspects of communication in our sales department between our office, our sales force, and the factories we represent. Her position also requires travel to all major trade shows and factory sales meetings ensuring she has first hand information to dispense. Rhonda is also our information technician assisting the sales force and office staff on all computer-oriented questions.
