About the Indiana Garden Club

The Indiana Garden Club was founded in 1930 and was federated with the Garden Club Federation of Pennsylvania in 1938.

Our mission is to develop the love of horticulture;

- to develop the love of horticulture and to promote an active interest in gardening;
- to develop skills in the art of flower arranging;
- to encourage civic planting and beautification;
- to stimulate concern for our environment; and
- to conserve native plants and trees;
- to foster respect for nature in young people.

The Indiana Garden Club currently maintains the following civic sites:

- The Wayne Avenue / Seventh Street point
- The island in front of Jimmy Stewart's childhood home
- The East Pike Intersection point
- The Eagle's Nest White Township Recreation Complex

Alice O'Dell and Julia Pound Scholarships are awarded each year to residents of Indiana County who will be studying ecology, horticulture, landscape design, landscape architecture, conservation, botany, forestry, agriculture or earth sciences at the undergraduate or graduate level.
