2016 Program Highlights

We have developed several programs for 2016 to empower our to most vulnerable groups (young adults and seniors).

Seniors

We provide direct advocacy on behalf of our beloved seniors. We offer support with housing, health care services, local transportation, and exercise activities.

Health and Fitness

We continue to promote healthy living. Diet and exercise remain a central focus to our program development.

Mentoring & Education

We offer both after school tutoring and mentoring. We arrange scholarship and admission counseling for college bound students.

Career & Education

We believe all citizens during their lives will receive at least three forms of education; academic, professional, and financial.

What you learn in school is your academic education. Where you focus your studies influences your professional education and your career opportunities. The market value of your professional education and the skills you acquire during both your academic and professional education will provide you the tools, techniques, and foundation for your financial education.

Supportive Services

Our services provide advocacy and support to

- seniors
- ex-offenders
- disenfranchised community members
- under-serviced youth

Programs are designed to offer guidance and direction by mentorship, education, and advocacy.
