

April 28, 2014

Fire resistance is available as an option on Woodlore[®] Shutters. These specially treated shutters are NFPA 701 compliant. They have been tested by an independent testing company and have passed the NFPA 701 test for fire resistance.

Please note: Some Woodlore[®] components are made from wood. All wood components, such as custom T posts, corner posts, bay posts, custom extensions, and select components in track systems, including bottom channel for open bypass fascia, were beyond the scope of the test, and are not fire resistant.