November 8, 2015
Thirty-Second Sunday in Ordinary Time
Mark 12:38-44

“Amen, I say to you, this poor widow put in more than all the other contributors to the treasury.”

Jesus seems to be critical of rich people. But Jesus was friends with Joseph of Arimathea who buried Jesus in his tomb, and Zacchaeus the tax collector, a man hated by others for his wealth but who gave half of his wealth to the poor. Jesus did not confront people because they had wealth. He challenged those who took advantage of others to gain their wealth and those who did not properly share their wealth with others; who use their possessions to distinguish and separate themselves from others; who think their wealth makes them better than others. Jesus uses the example of the poor widow who gave all she had to contrast with those who gave large sums from their surplus that they had acquired by taking advantage of widows. He is also challenging us to pray and reflect on our “wealth,” the “things that we own,” or more accurately, the “things that own us.” What thing or activity are we so attached to that we cannot share with others. What “owns” us?
