Dear Mom, Dad, and Piggy,

I'm ashamed of myself for not writing more, especially after, in my last letter, I promised to write twice a week. But I hope you understand that there are so many other things I just can't get interested in letter writing. I have so many things I'd like to tell you about and can't, that what I can say seems unimportant. But, Dad, my part in this war is certainly not a bit like your part in the last one.

Mail call has been scanty the last few days. Joan's letters make me know what I'm mixed up in this war for, though. I fall more in love with my wife each day.

Received a letter from Harold Wiberg in Calif. the other day. He and Gus are both papas and George Von Arb is soon to be one. Incidentally I've heard from both of them since getting here, George & Gus, but haven't seen either. Harry Stroh, my roommate at West Point is here some place and also his dad, the General. Must stop now. Love to Piggy and all.
But.
