JET A

FLAMMABLE NO SMOKING

1863

A large white cylindrical storage tank for Jet A fuel. It features a red diamond-shaped hazard label with the number '1863' and a blue diamond-shaped label with a flame icon. The tank is connected to a network of white pipes and valves. A 'JET A' label is visible on a pipe in the foreground.
