Survey Evaluation Results

Dear Marcos,

In the attachment you will find the evaluation results of the survey PO21102_19FA Intro. to International Rel..

The overall indicator is listed first. It consists of the following scales:

- General Info
- The Student
- The Course Overall

The overall indicator is followed by the individual average values of the scales mentioned above.

In the second part of the analysis the average values of all individual questions are listed, along with a comparison to the overall results for the entire school.

Sincerely,
College of Arts and Sciences

Marcos Scauso

2.4) Please provide any additional comments you would like to convey to the instructor about YOUR performance in this class.

- I read ahead of time to make sure that I would be ready for any discussion.
- I think that the class was educational but all the powerpoints were very confusing to follow and take notes... and I felt myself getting lost in each chapter. The textbook was the only thing that helped me follow the classes.
- Intro to IR is a great course that both challenged the way I think about politics and the helped me learn about different approaches to IR. Professor Scauso is amazing and did a great job of breaking down the material.
- N/a

- This course was so valuable because every single class I learned something I didn't know before. I left considering the nature of theory and our international society in an entirely new light. I literally felt my brain stretching as I tried to wrap my head around the concepts, and ultimately I succeeded at understanding.

3. The Professor

3.8) Please provide any additional comments you would like to convey about the professor's teaching:

- 10/10. He encouraged the class to share our thoughts and facilitated meaningful discussions.
- N/a
- One of the best professors i've had at QU. Professor Scauso genuinely wants his students to learn and do well in his class and you can tell.
- Powerpoints were too confusing to follow.
- Prof was very helpful in office hours explaining concepts i did not understand
- Professor Scauso is one of the best professors I have had so far at Quinnipiac. He is so genuinely excited about the subject matter that I was excited too, even at 8 p.m. He is so knowledgeable about international relations, and he has personal stories and connections relating to his own research and life experiences to add to the readings. He challenged our class. While it was an intro-level class, he forced us to think outside the box, yet his evaluations were fair and consistent with that of an intro-level class. He is always eager to get feedback and encourages students to share criticisms or positives with him via an anonymous survey. He is available to help students on FaceTime, by phone and in his very flexible office hours. His passion is contagious, and I am so glad he came to Quinnipiac. I can't wait to take another class with him!
- Professor Scauso made the class interesting by just talking, and his voice would be recognizable from a mile away. He is a great professor, and I would recommend him to everyone that I know.
- Professor Scauso was one of the best professors I have ever had. I was new to International Relations and didn't expect to like it as much as I do now. Prof Scuaso's enthusiasm for the course and the fact that he uses multiple different examples to explain different theories made the class really interesting. He is also one of the most caring professors I have ever had. He kept an anonymous survey open for the entire semester to receive feedback on the course as it was happening, and was constantly checking in on his students. This was one of my favorite classes this semester because of Professor Scauso and that's saying a lot for a Monday night class.

4. Class Materials

4.3) Please provide any additional comments you would like to convey relevant to class materials:

- Essay prompt was very vague.
- N.a
- Prof was very accommodating for assignments that students had concerns about and tried to give as many resources and help as possible.
- The assignments and materials directly related.
- The book seemed more advanced than what we were expected to know for the exams, but the case studies were helpful for our essays and projects. Scauso usually would clarify any questions I had about the readings by the end of the class.

5. The Course Overall

5.3) Please discuss any and all strengths and weaknesses related to this course:

- Good course but does get a little boring.
- I felt like this course was more challenging than other political science courses I've taken. I put more time and effort in trying to learn these topics than the other courses I'm taking at the moment, but still didn't perform as well.
- I loved this class, and I will recommend it to everyone that I meet
- I really struggle with night classes, and yes, I was sleepy at times in this course, but it was not because of the content or the professor. It was the class I had this semester in which I gained the most brand-new information as well as brand-new perspectives on the nature of society. I am always interested and involved in domestic politics and policy but I never considered various ways of considering relations between nations and how feminism is so much more than #MeToo and Hillary Clinton, but it's also Berta Caceres and women in developing nations taking the brunt of the effects of climate change. The only weakness other than the time of the class, was the sometimes challenging and confusing readings in the textbook, but the professor was always eager to clarify in class or office hours.
