Trinity Sunday Year C John 16:12-15

“Jesus said to his disciples: "I have much more to tell you, but you cannot bear it now. But when he comes, the Spirit of truth, he will guide you to all truth. He will not speak on his own, but he will speak what he hears, and will declare to you the things that are coming. He will glorify me, because he will take from what is mine and declare it to you. Everything that the Father has is mine; for this reason I told you that he will take from what is mine and declare it to you."

‘Our Trinity’

(By Robert Hedrick)

My Savior is now with my Creator,
however He's left me with a guide,
He gave The Holy Spirit to remind me
when it's not God's rules I abide.
God's my Creator, Jesus' my Savior,
The Holy Spirit guides my way,
The Perfect Trinity needed
to protect us during our earthly stay.

O Father who sought me
O Son who bought me
O Holy Spirit who taught me

Pastor's Study Desk Notes

Dear St Pius And St Anthony Churches,

Trinity Sunday Year C John 16:12-15

“I’ll fill you in later with the details!” Jesus seems to be saying that to the apostles today, when He tells them “I have much more to tell you, but you cannot bear it now” (John 16:12). I love that phrase! It promises ‘the rest of the story’ to complete the picture and make best sense of whatever is now incompletely told. Usually, the full story hasn’t been delivered up front, because of time limits or quick moving events. It might even be the result of the proper groundwork not being laid yet to make reception the full intention of the words understood (In computer talk, we could say that our operating system is not up to running the new software program yet without upgrading the memory). St Paul says this too in 1 Corinthians 13:12 “At present I know partially; then I shall know fully....” But that phrase ‘filling in the details’ reminds me of the type of old elementary school test questions we called “Fill in the Blanks”. We kids didn’t like them. We preferred the Multiple Choice or True/False questions better because you didn’t have to produce the actual words for the answer. You just selected one answer from among the provided answers. What is intriguing to me is how we all change as we age: the True False question format that I loved as a kid, now I dislike most of all. With added life experiences along the way, I often struggle with understanding what the question (especially poorly written ones) is asking. And I tend to question the question more, like saying, “Well, the answer is true if you consider these conditions, yet it is false if you primarily consider these other ones.” For example, try answering true or false to this statement, “The wettest month of the year is May.” Hold on! It depends on which year and where are you living. But on a similar page, that great phrase ‘filling me in on the details’ reminds me also of finishing out a coloring book page by adding the colorful touch of Crayolas (but keep it in between the lines!)? You know they are marketing coloring books to adults now (selling you finer-tipped colored pencils instead of just crayons, of course). But whether we are getting filled in with answers or color in life, Jesus assures us that the Holy Spirit will provide what we need! He will lead us into all truth, teaching and showing us everything (John 16:13).

We sure need the Holy Spirit (of God Himself) to teach us, as we think today about the Mystery of God’s Identity! Who is God? Jesus began revealing to us the identity of God and the Spirit adds and moves forward our understanding of God as best we can handle the revelation of Him as the Holy Trinity. Yet, who masters such an immense mystery as God? Who defines God? God has to reveal Himself to us. I’ve been reading a collection of letters between the wonderful Catholic southern writer Flannery O’Connor and her friends, and one of them wrote, “If you can explain the Trinity, then you aren’t talking about God.....God is always beyond our minds ability to pin Him down.” One of my seminary professors told us that ‘trying to define God in our human terms, is like trying to nail a cube of Jell-O to the wall!’ I also heard the EWTN radio host Dr Dave Anders recently say on his Q & A show ‘Called To Communion’ to a caller, “If you ever think you have definitively explained the Trinity or the Holy Eucharist in contemporary concepts, then you have probably uttered heresy!” We can never exactly define God to a T, trapping Him in our human categories (So, it is true that we cannot ‘pigeon-hole’ the Holy Spirit!) It takes God Himself, in Jesus and the Holy Spirit to reveal and teach the ways, life and identity of God to us! This feast of the Holy Trinity gives us an opportunity to reflect on the identity of God as a Holy Trinity of Divine Persons (perfectly One in Being) Father, Son and Holy Spirit as a community of Persons, being Perfect Love Shared and Life Begetting to us all. Trying to understand God, we will only be tracing broad lines of His True Mystery, and He will fill us in with life and truth as we grow along.

Peace, Fr Brian

Thank You again! Have I said how grateful I am for all of your wonderful support and encouragement you gave me as we celebrated my 25th Jubilee of Priesthood? The feeling of being overwhelmed by grace remains with me and will probably reverberate for another 25 years (God-willing!) I simply wanted to add how special it was of you to work so hard on organizing the splendid mass and delightful dinner afterward. I feel so blessed to be able to serve in our parishes and I want you to know how much you make being a pastor here, such a joy! Fr Brian
