A Note from Rick: The beef market finally held steady this week. It's been trending downward for quite a while now and it was good to see it level off. We had another great group of springers this month at our special sale on Thursday. The market was a little softer than it was last month, but overall the top quality springers sold well & the lesser quality ones struggled as you can see from the numbers. I'm encouraged by the fact that there were new buyers and sellers here Thursday and that's what we need for this to continue being successful. I expect more growth as the word continues to spread about our monthly dairy auction. We are gearing up for our upcoming horse sales and are excited to meet a whole new group of buyers and sellers. October is an exciting month here and we hope to see you at TLA!
