

Presentation Skills

About:

Do you get that sinking feeling about giving a speech or presentation? You are certainly not the only one! Many people find it difficult to present convincingly, confident and naturally. Fortunately, presenting well is not a mysterious gift that is reserved for a small group of people. With the right approach and a good preparation you can also give a smooth presentation. Do you want to know how to create an excellent presentation? Then this is the training for you!

Results:

- You can give a presentation in an effective way
- You align your presentation with your target group
- You know how to deal with fear of speaking
- You master techniques to make your personal presentation more engaging

Approach:

During the intake prior to the training you indicate what you find difficult and what you like to pay extra attention to. The trainer uses this input in preparation for the training. During the training a safe and accessible learning environment is created, in which you practice a lot, with both the structure and the form of the presentation.

The various aspects that play a role in providing a presentation are discussed: the goal, the target group, the preparation and the use of resources. Of course you will actively present yourself. The experienced and expert trainer gives extensive feedback on your presentations and you can view your own presentations. The improvements of your presentation skills will be clearly visible.

Through this practical approach, your skills will be permanently strengthened. From now on your presentations are a lot more interesting and appealing.
