

St. Vincent de Paul Society, a Catholic lay organization, leads women and men together to grow spiritually by offering person-to-person service to those who are needy and suffering. When people of need call out, Vincentians meet with them, determine their needs, and do what we can to assist. No work of charity is foreign to the Society. The real importance lies with offering hope and praying with those we visit. We do not meet all their financial needs and we do not intend to. We do provide love and understanding that will help them grow closer to Jesus and His love.
