

HTM Sensors have been designed and tested in a variety of industries for the most demanding applications. They are also backed by industry approvals and have a long track record of consistent performance.

We at Henry M Wood Company welcome the opportunity to have one of our Technical Sensor Specialists help identify and solve your most troublesome sensor issues. Our Technical Sensor Specialists are able to provide onsite support where they work one-on-one with your Team Members to identify problem areas, recommend a proper solution and create countermeasures to solve all your tough applications.

Please contact us at 513-755-4060 so we can start reducing your downtime.