Lucky Balls and Snow Birds

Robert and I spent the winter in Bullhead City, Arizona. Oh, the joy of being retired and able to relocate to a no snow zone for three months. Well, almost a no snow zone. Several years ago, we arrived in Bullhead the day before New Year's Eve and awoke the next morning to find it was snowing! It hadn't snowed in Bullhead for years, as this is a desert area south of Las Vegas. The citizens were overjoyed as some of the kids had never seen the white stuff. We snowbirds, as winter visitors to Bullhead are called, were astounded also. We were looking forward to sunshine and warm temps and found our cars covered in snow. Mother Nature showed us who was boss lady that year.

While in Bullhead, we play bingo at four nearby casinos...Avi, Lodge, Tropicana, and Riverside. They are a short drive across the nearby bridge to Laughlin, Nevada. The lovely ladies at the Tropicana know us now and aggravate the heck out of my husband. Imagine that; not that he doesn't deserve everything they dish out. On Tuesday and Wednesday at the Trop, besides the regular lucky ball, the games include a lava ball. A bingo on the lava ball is worth a thousand dollars. We keep trying. We also keep an eye on the lucky cash balls at the Station casinos in Vegas, about an hour and a half away. The drive to get there winds through mountains and desert scenery, plus, we always stop at Railroad Pass Casino. The Pass is an older smaller casino, but we like the atmosphere and their inexpensive food that includes luscious strawberry shortcake.

The various Station casino lucky balls are often at ten thousand dollars and higher. The first game played at each is a video linked Jumbo Coverall. If anyone hits the jumbo jackpot, then the rest of the games that session pay a thousand dollars each. To win you must bingo at 48 numbers or less, but that number increases each week to a max of 53 numbers with a hundred thousand dollars or more for the overall payout. One sunny morning Robert and I decided to try our luck at Green Valley Ranch as the cash ball there was $110,000 plus. That's right...$110,000 plus. I knew it would be crowded and wanted to get there super early. Robert thought it would be sufficient if we got there an hour beforehand. Well, we did that and arrived to find the line of players out the door with the entire bingo lobby area packed. We had no hope of getting inside, so we left and drove to Sunset Station nearby. The cash ball there was a mere eleven thousand and there were plenty of seats. Good thing we switched casinos because woo, woo. We hit the cash ball! No, we didn't. April Fool! We didn't win a darn thing because it was another lucky player's turn to yell bingo on the cash ball. Oh well. Hope springs eternal and we will patiently wait until it's our turn to hit it big. April Fool again! Patience is not something we practice. May Lady Luck blow you kisses as you dance out the door with dollars. Win big.

La Romana, Dominican Republic

The 2019 World Championship Bingo Tournament & Gaming Cruise will explore the beautiful southern Caribbean with stops at Grand Turk; La Romana, Dominican Republic; Curacao; and Aruba.

Our second port of call is La Romana, the Dominican Republic's third-largest city.

Surrounded by nearly 250 miles of coastline on the north, east and south, the Dominican Republic is a beach lover's paradise. Nestled between the seemingly endless stretches of white beaches and fields of coffee, sugar cane and cocoa, La Romana is where the green landscape of the Parque Nacional del Este meets the shoreline, and where the warm waters of the Caribbean mingle with the cool Atlantic Ocean.

La Romana is both an upscale tourist destination and home to Altos de Chavon, an artists' village designed in 15th-century Mediterranean-style. This sugar refinery settlement on the Chavon River offers a cosmopolitan take on the tropics.

There are also historic sites and intriguing natural wonders to explore. Santo Domingo, a short drive away, is a treasure trove of historic architecture.

La Romana has many shopping options. You can stroll through small shops in town or visit the largest mall in the area. Taino Indian artifacts are on display at the Archaeological Museum, while eclectic shops offer wares in Altos de Chavon. Either way, be sure to check out locally made crafts and distinctive Dominican food.

World-class golf courses and spas, water sports of every description, horseback riding in the surf—it's all here. A jewel of La Romana is the number one golf course in the Caribbean—Teeth of the Dog. The course is not only hailed as the best in the Caribbean but is also among the top 100 in the world.

Make sure to take advantage of La Romana's crystal waters by diving or snorkeling at such sites as the Guadalupe underwater museum. The living museum of the Cara Merchant shipwreck is also nearby. This ship once belonged to the legendary Captain Kidd who was sentenced to death for piracy.

Big Potawatomi Payout

Imagine winning $1 million playing Bingo. A man from Mukwonago, Wisconsin, did exactly that at Potawatomi Hotel & Casino in Milwaukee earlier this year. The lucky winner, who would only give his name as David H., nabbed the million-dollar prize by spinning the casino's All-Star Bingo Wheel after winning at Bingo. David H. was already guaranteed $100,000 even before he spun the wheel, which he qualified for after winning Bingo in 48 numbers or less by finishing on the 48th number called.

Bingo Players Lend Support

Poker and Bingo players at Pechanga Resort & Casino in Temecula, California, were invited to help the less fortunate and receive some great perks in the process. Players teamed up with Ante Up Magazine and Blue Shark Optics for the annual Restock the Shelves program that helps replenish local food bank supplies following the holiday season. Pechanga poker players received 500 bonus tournament chips for daily tournaments if they brought in two canned goods, or 1,000 bonus chips for three or more canned goods. Pechanga Bingo players received a free early bird game pack with a session buy-in when they brought in two cans of non-perishable foods. By the end of the event, players had donated more than 4,000 pounds of food.

Fight at Bingo Hall

A fight broke out during Bingo at a Canadian nursing home after two female residents got into an argument over a seat and refused to back down. Authorities said the two women, ages 79 and 86, are residents at a long-term care facility at Rideau Lakes, Ontario, located roughly 45 minutes from the U.S. border. The women wanted to sit in the same seat during Bingo and neither would compromise. A "physical altercation" reportedly broke out, prompting other residents to get involved. Eventually, police were called. No one was seriously injured or charged, according to reports.

Litterbox Bingo Helps Stray Cats

The first annual Litterbox Bingo, hosted by Family Bowlaway Fun Center in Butler, Pennsylvania, raised more than $4,000 for two cat rescue organizations. The sold-out event drew 149 pre-registered players, plus walk-ins, who came to support Homeless Cats of Butler, a group that traps, spays and neuters stray, feral and colony cats in the community; and Stray Solutions Animal Rescue, which helps find foster homes for rescued cats. In addition to 13 games of Bingo and many door prizes, more than 85 gift baskets were raffled off during the event. Cat litter, cat food, other cat supplies and cash were also donated by participants.

Horoscopes for April 2019

ARIES (MAR 21-APR 20): You've heard the story of the tortoise and the hare, yes? This month you need to decide if you're going to move recklessly (and possibly break things) or assume a slower, more mindful pace so you can savor all of the wonderful people (and blessings) in your life. Hint: slower is better this season; you'll be rewarded with all of the new discoveries you make along the way.

Lucky Days: 2 - 22
Lucky Numbers: 2 - 12

TAURUS (APR 21-MAY 21): Imagine how the first cavewoman felt when she came up with the idea of building a bridge. You'll need that kind of inspiration to merge what seems to be opposing forces in your life right now. Stop thinking that you have to choose one situation over the other. Both can coexist, but you'll need to formulate an original solution to insure the merger.

Lucky Days: 9 - 14
Lucky Numbers: 4 - 52

GEMINI (MAY 22-JUN 21): Get your ballet slippers on because you're going to be on your toes all month long, moving through various projects and multitasking like a pro. Communication is a key for securing proper compensation. Don't become so distracted that you forget to ask for what you deserve. If all else fails, remind yourself with the old saw: "The squeaky wheel gets the grease."
Lucky Days: 18 - 29
Lucky Numbers: 7 - 38

CANCER (JUN 22-JUL 22): You know how your intuition will tell you that it's time to take your car in for a tune-up but then you ignore your insight and then the next week your motor stalls and you have to call an expensive tow truck to transport you to the mechanic? Well, don't be caught unprepared this month. You've a keen psychic sense. Follow its lead and avoid costly breakdowns and repairs.

Lucky Days: 9 - 15
Lucky Numbers: 34 - 54

LEO (JUL 23-AUG 23): Venus, the planet of magnetism, is moving through your house of deep transformation. Life is throwing one of those paradoxical riddles. The challenge goes something like this: What is it that you are most attached to that you must release in order to acquire what you really need in life (even though you don't know what that thing is right now). See what I mean?

Lucky Days: 1 - 21
Lucky Numbers: 13 - 49

VIRGO (AUG 24-SEP 23): The full moon on the 18th reminds you that all of life involves an exchange of energies or compensation of some kind. Nothing is ever really free. Everyone has a kind of worth that they share (or withhold) with others. This is a good time for you to get in touch with your many gifts and how you plan to share or spend those gifts with others. What do you value most?

Lucky Days: 8 - 19
Lucky Numbers: 19 - 44

LIBRA (SEP 24-OCT 23) If you're itching to strut your stuff and command attention, the full moon on the 18th provides you with the perfect spotlight—a charm and magnetism that others will find irresistible. Of course this can work wonders in the romance department, too, so don't be reserved. Glam yourself up a bit and mingle. This is a month to let others know that you mean business.

Lucky Days: 16 - 24
Lucky Numbers: 4 - 34

SCORPIO (OCT 24-NOV 22): That wise American elder Ben Franklin once said: "He who lives on hope dies farting." This isn't the time for magical thinking. To move forward you must commit to a strategy that takes advantage of all of your know-how and wisdom. Don't second-guess, study the facts, come to conclusions and move forward with certainty.

Lucky Days: 10 - 12
Lucky Numbers: 2 - 54

SAGITTARIUS (NOV 23-DEC 21): Your ruler Jupiter continues to grace you with a protective aura and a mother lode of luck. So how to work this fortuitous time to your advantage? See what you can do to improve the quality of life for friends and associates that need a boost or uplifting inspiration. It's a mystery how circulating what you have brings rewards back to you double-fold; test this truth so it moves from probability to fact.

Lucky Days: 2 - 22
Lucky Numbers: 51 - 52

CAPRICORN (DEC 22-JAN 20): You'll want to explore your dream world with keen attention this month. Watch for guidance and omens from the most unlikely of places. Even an enemy can offer the right solution to resolve a niggling puzzle. Remain open to the mystical. Be willing to walk the deserted path. This is a month to test your open-mind, to explore and let magic do its magic act.

Lucky Days: 17 - 29
Lucky Numbers: 3 - 48

AQUARIUS (JAN 21-FEB 19): Which way to go? The short answer would be: Whichever direction is the most frugal. Mars, the planet of irritation, is creating a muddle in your house of money, so you need to pay particular attention to budgeting and accepting guidance from experts. The full moon on the 18th brings a breakthrough that shores up your belief in eleventh hour providence. Thank goodness.

Lucky Days: 2 - 25
Lucky Numbers: 1 - 6

PISCES (FEB 20-MAR 20): The full moon in your house of other people's money throws a spotlight on legacies and what comes to you from outside sources. This lunation can also create muddles in the tax department, so be sure to have an expert on hand to offer clear insight as to how you can preserve what is rightfully yours.

Lucky Days: 9 - 15
Lucky Numbers: 4 - 27

Fake Blood Pressure Readings

A Department of Veterans Affairs outpatient clinic in Virginia has been recording fake, incorrect blood pressure readings of veterans who came in for care. A 139/89 reading was routinely entered during blood pressure rechecks. Why that number? Because a higher number would have triggered follow-up care.

Once again, it was the VA's Office of the Inspector General that caught the pattern. Eight weeks later, the OIG discovered that nothing had been done to correct the problem. They stepped in again and wrote five recommendations for improved care, and more than 800 veterans have been notified to return for blood pressure screenings.

It's not the first time this has happened. Last fall it was a VA clinic in Kentucky, and the blood pressure reading was 128/78. In that case the OIG discovered that by entering that particular reading, it would turn off the automatic note to physicians about whether or not the patient needed lab work, referrals or medication. It was a ploy to save work on the part of the medical staff. The OIG discovered, by calling veterans, that often no blood pressure reading had even been taken. What made it worse was that the fake readings triggered staff performance bonuses.

We need to step up and manage our health care. Take a pad and pen with you to appointments and take notes: your weight, any medications you're to take, the results of any lab work ... and your blood pressure reading. Keep these notes in a file. Compare them to previous appointment notes. If you see a pattern -- in this case, if your blood pressure is the same from visit to visit -- ask questions. Get a message to your doctor and let him know.

High blood pressure can lead to heart attack, stroke, kidney disease and more. Take care of yourself.

It's Just a Suggestion

Hi Guy,

I stopped one of the Bingo workers after Bingo and made the suggestion that it would improve the game if they moved the stand where the caller is located from the head of the room to the side of the room. It would certainly make viewing the caller and the board easier and would allow the opportunity to change the seating layout so that players could move around more easily to get to the kitchen, bathrooms and other parts of the room.

The worker smiled politely and recommended that I put my suggestion in the suggestion box. I said "great" and asked where it was. She laughed and said: "There isn't one. The manager hates suggestions." And then she scurried away.

In spite of this odd conversation, it got me to thinking. Once upon a time, suggestion boxes were quite common. I remember them in places where I worked, at church, at the store. They were there because these operations were always interested in improving and were open to ideas from people "outside" daily functions.

I couldn't tell you the last time I saw a suggestion box. And if you think about it, that's pretty strange. When did businesses and organizations stop being interested in input that could make their operations better? Is it like the Bingo worker said? People in charge hate suggestions?

I say: Bring back the Suggestion Box! We should start a campaign! — Roger J., Indiana, via email

Hi Roger,

Wow, I don't think I've seen a suggestion box in 20 years. And I think I know why.

I worked in an office many years ago where my boss made a big deal during a staff meeting about putting in a suggestion box. The box was to be used by people who had ideas or observations they would like to share, while remaining anonymous. The goal was to improve systems and create another open line between staff and management.

Long story short, it was a bomb. From the start, people used the box to lodge complaints, snitch on coworkers, criticize management, offer "humorous" suggestions, and complain about the food in the cafeteria.

At several weekly staff meetings that followed, the boss explained as gently as possible that the suggestion box was not created for complaints, but for constructive input on business operations. After that, people reworked their complaints to read as constructive suggestions, like "It would boost productivity and company morale if the cafeteria didn't serve such crappy food."

After that, little else was said about the suggestion box. Over the next few months it was moved to places of less and less prominence, until finally it disappeared—which I'm sure was at someone's anonymous suggestion.

Keep in mind, though, that while the physical suggestion box may have faded into history, it still is very much alive in the virtual world of email and toll free 800 numbers.

Email can be sent with much the same anonymity as the suggestion box once promised; all you need is the recipient's address.

My suggestion is to poke around a little until you find an email address for the Bingo hall you attend and fire off a brief but constructive message with your observations. With luck, the right person will get it. And with a little more luck, maybe they'll make the improvements you suggest.

If you need help, make an appointment with a sleep specialist.

Challenge your mind: Some research suggests that mind challenging activities can help improve memory, and slow age-related mental decline. But, be aware that these activities consist of things you aren't accustomed to doing. You need to pick up a new skill like learning to dance, play a musical instrument, study a new language or do math problems – something that's challenging and a little outside your comfort zone.

Socializing and interacting with other people is another important way to stimulate the brain. So make a point to reach out and stay connected to friends, family and neighbors.

Don't smoke or drink excessively: Smoking and excessive alcohol consumption both effect the brain in a negative way, so kick the habit if you smoke and, if you drink, do so only in moderation.

Reduce stress: Some stress is good for the brain, but too much can be toxic. There's growing evidence that things like mindfulness meditation, yoga and tai chi are all good ways to help reduce stress.

Dear Dream Catcher Mirror, Mirror

Dear Dream Catcher,

I hope that you can shed some light on this dream. It wasn't a long dream but the images made me feel strange after I woke up. Here is the dream: I am standing in a hallway somewhere (I didn't recognize the place). There is a mirror before me. I am looking in the mirror and admiring myself (I am not wearing any makeup and my hair is ordinary, not fixed up). Then all of a sudden the image in the mirror changes. When I study my image again I see that I have transformed into a Japanese geisha. I am shocked. Then my husband appears behind me and says, "This is exactly what I've been hoping for." And then that is the end of the dream. I cannot get the image of me as a geisha out of my mind. What does this mean? , Millie K. Bronx, NY

Dear Millie

First, there is no definitive meaning to a dream as interpreted by an outsider. The closest you will come to hitting the bull's-eye with a dream's meaning is to examine your emotional response to the dream. It is the feeling that your dream conjures that offers a direct understanding. That being said, I will give your dream a try. Mirrors often symbolize truth for they reflect back only what is in front of them. We might have an image of ourselves being this way or that, but a mirror will show you how you actually appear. The start of your dream indicates an attitude of relaxed acceptance towards yourself and your appearance. There is nothing hidden (no makeup) or embellished (no fashionable hairstyle). The dream confirms your sense of security and wellbeing with who you are as a woman. But then the imagery shifts and moves you to the heart of the dream's message, a message that appears through contrast. It is the geisha's task to fulfill the wishful fantasies of what many men consider to be ideal femininity. (Which explains the appearance of your husband and his wish fulfillment). The geisha has a beautiful presence in life but no voice. This dream suggests that it is time to examine the dynamics of power, especially how power is expressed in your relationship with men. The dream wants you to find your voice and use it. — D.C.

YOU ASK THE SENIOR QUESTION

~ WE FIND THE SAVVY ANSWER

How to Slow Down Cognitive Aging

Dear Savvy Senior

Are there any proven strategies to preventing cognitive decline? I have a family history of dementia and worry about my own memory and cognitive function as I grow older. — Almost 60

Dear Almost,

For most people, starting in their fifties and sixties, the brain's ability to remember names, multi-task or learn something new starts declining. While our genes (which we can't control) play a key role in determining our cognitive aging, our general health (which we do have some control over) plays a big factor too.

Here are some healthy lifestyle strategies – recommended by medical experts – that you can employ that can help stave off cognitive loss and maybe even build a stronger brain.

Manage health problems: Studies have shown that cognitive problems are related to health conditions, like diabetes, heart disease and even depression. So, if you have high blood pressure, high cholesterol or diabetes you need to treat them with lifestyle changes and medication (if necessary) and get them under control. And if you have a history of depression, you need to talk to your doctor about treatment options.

Exercise: Aerobic exercise increases blood flow to all parts of your body, including your brain, to keep the brain cells well nourished. So, choose an aerobic activity you enjoy like walking, cycling, dancing, swimming, etc., that elevates your heart rate and do it for at least 30 to 40 minutes three times a week.

Eat healthy: A heart-healthy diet, like the Mediterranean diet, will also help protect the brain. A Mediterranean diet includes relatively little red meat and emphasizes whole grains, fruits and vegetables, fish and shellfish, and nuts, olive oil and other healthy fats. Also keep processed foods and sweets to a minimum.

Get some sleep: Quality, restful sleep contributes to brain health too. Typically, adults should get between seven and nine hours of sleep daily. If you have persistent problems sleeping, you need to identify and address the problem. Medications, late-night exercise and alcohol can interfere with sleep quality and length, as can arthritis pain, sleep apnea and restless leg syndrome.

One of them kept insisting that this man was her boyfriend, while the other kept saying she was imagining things and that this man was interested in her. Apparently these two had fought at the residence too and had been warned to stay away from each other or face a disciplinary hearing. (Did you know they had hearings like that in senior complexes? It was news to me!)

These women had obeyed the residence warning but then found themselves at Bingo on the same night and immediately started to fight. I mean, it was LOUD! It was also quite a surprise because these women had to be in their 70s or older, but they sure had a lot of energy. One of them was actually screaming at the other and it really looked like it was going to get physical.

A couple of players got between them along with some of the workers, so it never got beyond shouting. The Bingo manager is a no-nonsense type and he threw them both out and banned them from coming back.

It was so crazy—and something those of us who witnessed it talked about for weeks! — Lisa M., via email

Dear Lisa:

Your email was the one that triggered my running one more column of letters about arguments at Bingo because, first, I got quite a few emails on the topic and second, I received two submissions on this same incident. The other letter was unsigned and included some details about shoving and possibly one woman spitting at the other, but otherwise it was obviously the same altercation—and clearly quite a show!

Seeing as some time has passed, I can't help but be curious about how this situation resolved itself. Have these women remained banned from Bingo? Did the man at the center of the controversy make a choice between the two feuding females? Did one of them run the other over with her car in the Bingo hall parking lot? Let us know! — Aunt Bingo

Dear Aunt Bingo:

I co-direct a Bingo hall and to be honest am typically too busy to take time to read your newspaper or write in to anyone about anything. But this topic of arguments at Bingo caught my attention because it happens more often than you would think and for all kinds of reasons.

I have broken up fights between:

- A husband and wife over where to go to dinner after Bingo;
- Two sisters over sharing Bingo winnings;
- Two "friends" about local politics;
- Two "friends" about national politics;
- Two more "friends" over football; ...and that's just for starters.

Maybe it's because of the tension of coming close to winning and being beaten by someone else, but there is something about the atmosphere in a Bingo hall that seems to foster arguments between Bingo buddies.

I don't like it and have a strict "shut up or get out" policy that ends these arguments quickly. But some psychologist should check into this because it's very weird. — Name withheld, Colorado

Dear Bingo Director:

Do you have a college or university in your area? You may have just come up with an excellent Ph.D. thesis topic. — Aunt Bingo

The Arguments Continue!

Dear Readers:

Letters continue to come in about arguments between players at Bingo, including some juicy ones not related to politics! Some examples follow. — Aunt Bingo

Dear Aunt Bingo:

While recent letters in your column have focused on people getting into political debates at Bingo, that is not the only topic that can get folks stirred up.

There was a shocker of an argument that happened where I play Bingo between two women who apparently live in the same senior complex and are both interested in the same man.

Scouting the Blackjack Tables

I'm amazed at how many players I see enter a casino and plop themselves down at the first empty seat at any blackjack table. What they should be doing instead is scouting the blackjack tables. The reason is the blackjack playing rules, the number of decks of cards, the payoffs for a blackjack, the table limits, and even how the dealer shuffles the cards, are not always the same from one table to the next. What follows are some tips on what you should be looking for when you scout the tables so that you can play the best blackjack game available in whichever casino you visit.

6-5 payoff for blackjack

Always make sure that the table pays 3-2 for a blackjack, not 6-5 (or worse, even money). In some casinos, the cloth layout will specify if blackjack pays 3-2 or 6-5 or there may be signage on the table that specifies what the payoff is. Here is something to keep in mind: You do NOT want to play any blackjack game, even a single-deck game, if a blackjack pays 6-5. (Reason: The house edge increases by 1.4% when the casino pays 6-5 instead of 3-2. This is a rip-off and you should avoid playing all 6-5 games.) If you are not sure what the payoff is for a blackjack, ask the dealer before you sit down and play.

Dealer Hit or Stand on Soft 17

Most players know that the dealer must hit their hand if it totals 16 or lower and stand if it totals 17 through 21. However, on some tables, the rules may specify that the dealer must hit soft 17, and on other tables, stand on soft 17. You are better off (by roughly 0.2%) playing on a table where the dealer stands on soft 17 (rather than hit). Check the layout or table signage for the soft 17 rule and if you have a choice, play on a table where the dealer stands on soft 17. (Again, if you are not sure if the rule is stand or hit soft 17, ask the dealer.)

Continuous Shuffling Machine

In the old days, the dealer hand shuffled the cards, or automatic shufflers would shuffle multiple decks of cards after the dealer dealt roughly 70% of them. Nowadays many casinos have reverted to Continuous Shuffling Machines (CSM).

The CSM is a combination auto shuffler and dealing device. After every round (or sometimes two), the dealer will place the discards back into the CSM where they will be automatically shuffled with the unplayed cards in the CSM (usually a CSM holds four to six decks of cards). You can tell if a table is using a CSM by watching what the dealer does with the discards after each round. If she isn't stacking them in the discard tray, she probably is placing them into the CSM. And that's not good for players. Why? Because when a casino uses a CSM, there is never a pause in the action and, therefore, the casino can deal roughly 20% more hands per hour. That increases the number of hands that a player's bankroll is exposed to the house edge. It is better to avoid all CSMs and instead play on tables where the dealer manually shuffles the cards, or uses a traditional auto shuffler that shuffles all the cards.

Betting Limits

If you are a low roller, you shouldn't be betting $25 a hand. Every table has a sign that specifies what the table minimum and maximum betting limits are. Therefore, check out the tables to find betting limits you feel comfortable playing. If all the low-limit tables are crowded, it is best to wait until a seat opens rather than take a seat at a $25 minimum table.

Number of Decks

In general, the fewer the number of decks of cards, the better the game is for players. However, you have to check all the rules. For example, a single-deck game that pays 6-5 for a blackjack is a terrible game, whereas if it paid 3-2 for a blackjack, it's a very good game. Player-favorable rules include being allowed to double-down after pair splitting, being allowed to double down on any two cards, being allowed to re-split pairs, being allowed to surrender your hand, and, of course, the dealer standing, rather than hitting, soft 17.

Be a smart player and scout the tables before you sit down and play.

Poker Talk

Be Smart in Your Evaluation of Starting Hands

By Jonathan Little

Starting-hand selection is a critical but frequently overlooked aspect of Texas hold 'em, especially for novice players.

My recommendation for entry-level players (and for all players, really) is to play hands that are likely to be stronger than your opponents' hands. That may sound overly simplistic, but the basic logic behind this sensible approach is that you will make the best hand more often than your opponent.

In the early levels of no-limit hold 'em tournaments, you can do well by playing a fairly tight, aggressive style of poker. That said, you should not play too tightly, because that will result in you blinding out and getting no action from opponents due to your snug image.

Assuming you have a fairly deep chip stack, you should play only premium hands — pocket pairs 6-6 or better, and A-Q or better - from early position. As you get closer to the button, you can add more starting hands such as 2-2, Q-J, A-3 suited, 9-8 suited and so on.

The reason you should loosen up your starting-hand requirements as you get closer to the button is that you are more likely to have position throughout the hand. To sum up position in one sentence: Position lets you control the size of the pot, allowing you to play smaller pots with marginal hands and larger pots with strong hands.

As the blinds get higher and your chip stack starts shrinking in terms of the number of big blinds you have in it, you will have to increase your level of aggression a bit, perhaps raising a very wide range of hands from late position.

If I have around 30 big blinds and the action is folded to me, I will raise the button with any pocket pair, an ace with any other card, K-5 or better, J-8 or better, and almost any two suited cards.

You have to make sure you are always paying attention to your opponents' stack sizes as well. If your opponents have shallow stacks of 18 big blinds or fewer, you actually have to tighten up a bit because they will be more inclined to go all in over the top of your initial raise. At that point, you have to play hands that have good showdown value, which cuts out hands such Q-8 and 4-3 suited, as those hands tend to lose once all five cards are on board.

In games with smaller stakes, if you're prudent about hand selection, you should expect to play fewer hands than your loose, splashy opponents. While playing a reasonable range of cards might make you feel as if you're not part of the action, you will win a much larger portion of the hands you play compared with everyone else. You can also expect to have great results in the long run while most of your opponents are losing.

What's New in Nevada

ROCK GROUP IN RESIDENCE

Although the gig is only scheduled to last for nine shows, Steely Dan is slated to be in what is being called a "mini-residency" at the Venetian Theater in Las Vegas. Even though the group's co-founder, Walter Becker, died several years ago, the group is still going strong. Tickets for the April-May performances range from $142 to $321. The dates are from April 25th through May 11th.

NOT SO SUPER BOWL

The recent Super Bowl may have been a TV ratings and on-the-field disaster. So are the numbers coming from gaming regulators. According to the bean counters, gamblers in Nevada bet a lot less on this year's game. When all the numbers are in, the totals will likely show that about $13-million LESS was bet this time around than last year. Nevada has over 200 sportsbook locations. It should be pointed out, though, that this was the first Super Bowl on which fans in other states could legally place bets.

SKYWALK AT THE 'STRAT'

There are published reports that the soaring Stratosphere in Las Vegas has filed for a permit to build a new attraction atop the 1,149-foot tall hotel/casino. The new attraction will be a skywalk, similar to the one built by the Hualapai Tribe at the Grand Canyon. The permit seems to indicate that the skywalk will afford incredible-but-scary views of Las Vegas through a glass floor that will hang out from the tower. By the way, the Stratosphere has changed its name to simply The Strat.

Game Day Salad

Dear Ask Annie,

I am entertaining the ladies I play mahjong and cards with at lunchtime. They love salads. Can you suggest a salad that would impress them? — Kathy K from Jacksonville, Ga.

Dear Kathy,

One of my most favorite salads is the Tarpon Springs Greek Salad with a scoop of potato salad. I have lived in Florida for 45 years. The original restaurant that created this recipe no longer exists, but the salad is still available in many restaurants in the Tarpon Springs area. This recipe serves six. Double or triple it, as necessary. Serve with a fresh loaf of Italian bread. Add a sweet dessert and I am sure you will impress the ladies. I would suggest making the potato salad a day ahead of time. The potato salad is served cold, not warm. Make the salad dressing a day before too. — Annie

TARPON SPRINGS GREEK SALAD WITH POTATO SALAD

Potato Salad:

- 1.5 # bag white potatoes (any variety), halved
- 2 eggs, hard boiled, halved and sliced
- 4 scallions, sliced
- ½ cup low-fat Greek yogurt
- 1 teaspoon mustard
- 1 tablespoon white vinegar
- 2 tablespoons low-fat mayo
- ½ teaspoon salt/freshly ground pepper

Greek Salad Dressing:

- ¼ cup olive oil
- ¼ cup red wine vinegar
- 1 teaspoon dried oregano
- 1 teaspoon dried basil
- ½ teaspoon garlic powder
- ¼ salt/pepper

Greek Salad:

- 2 heads of romaine hearts, torn into small pieces
- ½ cup thinly sliced cucumber
- ½ cup halved cherry tomatoes
- ¼ cup black Greek (Kalamata) olives
- 12 pepperoncini peppers
- ¼ cup very thinly sliced red onion
- ½ cup crumbled feta cheese

Make the potato salad. Place the potatoes in a large stock pan and cover with water by 1 inch. Bring to a boil, then reduce heat and cook until potatoes are just tender. Remove and rinse with cold water to stop the cooking. Halve the cooled potatoes and place in a large bowl along with scallions and chopped hard boiled eggs. Whisk together the Greek yogurt, mustard, vinegar, salt/pepper and mayo. Season to taste, then toss with the potatoes. Spread potato salad in a large salad-serving dish and set aside.

Whisk together the ingredients for the Greek dressing. Season to taste, adding more salt/pepper if needed and set aside.

Toss together the romaine lettuce, cucumber, tomatoes, olives and peppers. Add 3 tablespoons of the dressing and toss well; stir in the feta cheese. Then add the salad over the potato salad. Drizzle with remaining salad dressing (you may not need all of it) and serve immediately. Serve by scooping all the way to the potato salad at the bottom with the salad on top.

William Shakespeare, used a grand total of 17,677 words in his works. (That must have been a tedious calculation.) They also say that fully one-tenth of those words had never been used in writing before.

... Unless you were around on April 17, 1964, you may not be aware of the hullabaloo caused by the introduction of the Ford Mustang. In Seattle, a truck driver was so distracted by a display of new Mustangs that he crashed his cement truck through the window of the dealership. In Chicago, so many people were trying to crowd into the cars in a showroom that the dealer had to lock all the vehicle doors. A dealer in New Jersey had only one Mustang, so he auctioned it off. The winner of the auction insisted on sleeping in his new car that night, just to make sure nobody else got it before his check cleared.

... When someone mentions the band ZZ Top, you probably think of a group of musicians with long beards. They don't all have beards, though; the drummer is clean-shaven as a matter of safety (imagine being in the middle of a drum solo and getting a stick caught in a long beard -- ouch!). Interestingly, the unbearded drummer's name is Frank Beard.
