

About page

American Rebel Mud Park began construction in 2014. The park is approximately 500 acres situated on the banks of the scenic Buffalo River, about halfway between Waynesboro and Hohenwald Tennessee on Route 99. We're just under two hours from Nashville, three hours from Memphis and three and a half hours from Chattanooga.

The park was designed primarily as an escape for mudders. But knowing that not every off road enthusiast is equipped to do battle with extreme mud, we've built some shallow pits and an abundance of challenging trails throughout the surrounding hills and 'hollers. ARMP is a purpose-built offroad park, with features you've never seen before for offroad vehicles!

We will offer both ATV/UTV events and TRUCK events on different dates. That's not to say you can't bring atv's on truck weekends, but they won't be allowed on the same trails and in the same mud pits for the sake of safety. Strict speed limits will be enforced in the camping area to assure everyone's safety.

Dry camping is free. There are some, not many, rooms available in nearby towns and Waynesboro is ten miles away for various restaurants, gas and food stores.

American Rebel Mud Park was designed to have fun, from the camping experience with fellow off roaders to the exhilaration of mudding and trail riding. Riders who wish to test their skills against their buddies can enter various racing events, from enduros to mud Xcross to our obstacle course to win cash and prizes. ARMP is an overall good time event! Topping it all off will be our Saturday night bonfire and concert programs!
