Choosing Derrickson Pike

We realize there are a great many companies you could do business with. Derrickson Pike, Inc. (DPI) is one of them. What sets DPI apart from the rest of our competitors? Here are a few key factors.

Experience Our seasoned professionals bring a wealth of experience to the project team. DPI's team has worked together successfully for more than two decades. With decades of successful projects completed in the environmental and construction industry, there are lessons learned. Those lessons drive an innovative process early in the project providing our clients with the extra value added service that could only come from the DPI team.

The Right Team DPI's intention has never been to do "everything" within the environmental industry. We have our core competency which we strive to excel at. Environmental Remediation and Environmental Systems. DPI provides complete environmental remediation services and over the years has built strong, long term relationships with a select group of subcontractors and consultants to support that effort. Our subcontractors must embrace the core values that drive DPI. Safety, Innovation, Integrity and Service. Approach the job with the end in mind. Regardless of when DPI is brought into a project, whether it be during early conceptual design, during the bidding phase or mid-stream to support an ongoing effort, our team is looking to the project end, identifying the potential issues before they occur, and providing a range of solutions for our clients upfront.

Strive To Be Cost Effective DPI develops innovative approaches to performing the work that will reduce costs for the project as a whole. DPI never looks to cut corners or minimize the quality of the work or end product. DPI does look for innovative ways to reduce costs through value engineering and alternative work strategies.

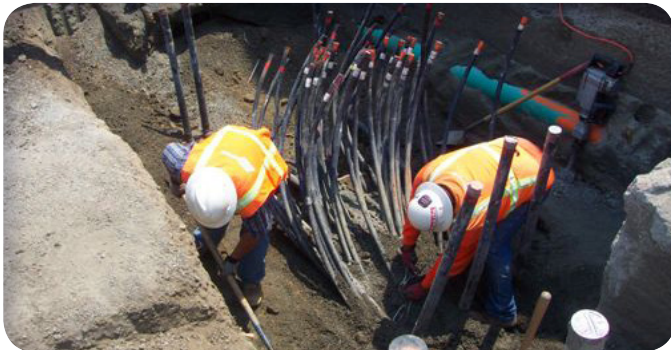

Safety We absolutely demand the safest practices in the performance of our work from our employees and subcontractors. Our behavior based safety program has been structured to put safety first. At DPI we are proud of our safety record and we remain focused on nothing but the highest level of safety during each and every DPI project.
