A Note from Rick: Markets followed the same trend as last week. Markets were weaker again this week at TLA. Slaughter cattle, both colored and Holstein slipped the most, while butcher cows and bulls were slightly lower. The dairy market and the feeder market were lightly tested. Bull calves were definitely more stable, but are still significantly lower than a month ago. A few months ago, fall seemed like a long ways off. The summer flew by and the kids are back in school. Fortunately, the Lord has blessed us with nice days and progress is definitely being made on the new building. We've got a busy Fall planned starting with the driving horse auction on Saturday, followed by the pony auction on Labor Day, then on to the Alternative Animal, Fall Frenzy, Friesian Fall Classic and the Draft Horse Week. We'll finish 2017 with the Miller Yoder and Dutch Cross 3 day Trotting Event. Throw in a few special springer and feeder sales, an organic cattle auction and another driving horse sale and we'll have ourselves a busy sale barn. Couldn't be happier..... See you at TLA!
