The Stairs

The stairs were decorated with some creepy mice

Skeletons in Closet

The coat closet had a sign on it that said, “Do Not Open, Skeletons in Closet” and a motion detecting skeleton had was coming out of the closet resting on the door knob. So when anyone walked by, the fingers would wiggle like it was trying to open the closet. Courtney really wanted to open the closet and check it out.

The Disco Potty

The bathroom, or the “Disco Potty” was lighted with spinning disco balls and a jam box blaring disco music. The decorations were appropriate

The Dining Room Table

Ear Piercing

About two years ago, I promised Autumn that she could get her ears pieced when she lost her two front teeth. She never forgot that promise, and this week, she lost the second tooth. So when Aunt Teresa was in town for the Halloween party, we did the deed.
