Join us for a fact-filled, fun-filled day learning about the Underground Railroad in Sandusky, Ohio. We will begin the day with a guided, driving tour of the Underground Railroad sites in Sandusky. Our next stop will be Facer Park, on the city's waterfront, where group of civic-minded leaders in Sandusky worked together to create this park featuring a sculpture, created by local artist, Susan Schultz. The sculpture represents freedom seekers escaping the chains of slavery. The trip continues with tours of the Follett House Museum, former home of Oran Follett, publisher of the Lincoln-Douglas debates, and the Merry Go Round Museum, featuring a working antique carousel. The tour will end with a short drive through the Soldiers and Sailors Home Cemetery before making our way back to Warren. Museums are accessible on the first floor only.

The tour in Cleveland presents some of the events, people, and places in the city that connect with the abolitionist sentiment and Underground Railroad presence that existed in the city. From the abolitionist community that resided in what is now known as University Circle to harrowing reports of runaways hiding in St. John's Episcopal Church's bell tower through the dramatic sequence of events surrounding the arrest of Lucy Bagby, Cleveland played a prominent role in the drive toward national emancipation of its enslaved population. A guided tour of Woodland Cemetery, Cleveland's primary cemetery in the 19th century, is the resting place of people from every race, the rich and poor, natives and immigrants, and the famous and obscure, including freedom seekers and abolitionists. A reenactor will be onsite portraying famous abolitionist, Charles Langston. Wear comfortable shoes and dress for the weather.

NOTE: Space is limited to the first 45 reservations. Additional reservations will be placed on a wait list. For each tour, the comfortable Campbell Bus Lines bus will be available for boarding a half hour before the departure time (stated above) in the middle of the parking lot of Walmart (2016 Millennium Blvd, Cortland, OH). We will return there by the times listed above. Trip prices include transportation, driver's tip, admissions, tour guides, snacks, and bottled water on the bus. Please dress for the weather and be advised that there is walking and some stairs required for visiting each historical site. Not all sites are air conditioned. Brief lectures on the bus will provide information about each site.
