

Script #3

Good evening school district trustees. My name is _____ and I am the parent of a freshman attending school in this district.

My public comments are in regard to wireless radiation and maintaining a safe learning environment for our children in the ---- School District.

I am providing you with three recently released messages regarding wireless radiation in our children's and teachers' classrooms. They all have the same message: hardwire the school technology.

University of California, Berkeley, Center for Community and Family Health

"Some Tips To Reduce Your Exposure to Wireless Radiation"

Among these are:

"Turn off Wi-Fi on devices being used by kids"

"... use hardwired networks in schools to provide Internet access."

Doctors For Safer Schools

Doctors For Safer Schools is "an international nonprofit advisory board offering science-based research, recommendations and resources on electro-magnetic radiation and the safer use of technology."

"We ask School Boards, educators and parents to realize existing standards fail to protect students and staff." This is a quote from epidemiologist Devra Davis: "If the cell phone were a drug, it would be banned. And iPads are even worse in terms of radiation exposure."

The Baby Safe Project

This website is of particular interest to pregnant teachers. The site reads, "Protect Your Baby from Wireless Radiation"

"Bringing physicians, scientists and educators together to help inform women about the risk that wireless radiation poses to pregnancy and to urge expectant mothers to limit their exposures". It features Dr. Hugh Taylor, Chief of Obstetrics, Yale University Hospital, discussing the scientific studies that demonstrate exposures to wireless radiation results in degradation of memory and learning, most notably ADHD in offspring.

These messages stand on their own. They must translate into a wired technology program, one that does not carry the serious health detriments of wireless and is known to be a secure and reliable connection.

Rather than resisting what is clearly, insistently being communicated by medical doctors, researchers and scientists, we should all be moving to protect our children and moving the messages forward to others. I hope that you will come to realize the critical need to share this information until it becomes common knowledge. We cannot wait for dead bodies and diseases to make this all self-evident. We cannot wait to see it in the news or proclaimed by our government. It is time to turn the corner and help others to, as well.

Thank you for your kind attention to this critical matter.

I have handouts for both the trustees and school principals.
