Re: John Jamieson

I write this letter very enthusiastically and without reservation on behalf of Mr. John Jamieson. It is a pleasure to know John as a financial expert and a friend. His outstanding character, strong ethics, leadership, and natural ability to put everyone at ease caused me to admire him. He has tremendous moral fiber that compliments his charisma. I not only admire Mr. Jamieson's expertise in finances and generational wealth building but his passion for marginalized and underserved people.

I have the unique pleasure of having Mr. John Jamieson at my church on several occasions. He has been the keynote speaker on Sunday mornings working with us on a better business model for automatically and systematically creating tax free generational wealth. He is currently working with us and community churches on helping to reduce systemic poverty in low income areas. As a result of his unique blend of faith and wealth strategies, he has been labeled the "Pastor of Finances" by New Breed Church.

Through his company, Perpetual Financing System, he has consistently provided reliable financial intervention and referral services to my colleagues, friends, family members, and congregants. He has developed a weave of fabric of support and consortium of resources for financial planning. In addition, his collaborative efforts with New Breed Church have produced information and financial educational resources to help erase the stigma associated with poverty in urban communities and ecclesiastical settings.

John has shown impeccable organizational capabilities and performs at high levels of excellence. He not only has a feel of how to problem-solve in chaotic environments, but also has displays rare leadership characteristics. I cheerfully express my confidence in his integrity as a moral man, his professionalism, trustworthiness, reliability, and rare leadership skills.

He is an innovative and creative leader, who is an excellent communicator, administrator, team builder, an initiator, a self-starter, and motivator. He has been faced with many challenging situations and has always risen to the occasion. He has an unwavering commitment to the details of any financial project he undertakes. Competent and analytical, he has demonstrated exemplary leadership to colleagues and congregants I have referred.

I am confident that Mr. Jamieson has the expertise to help civic, ecclesiastical, business, private, non-profit groups reach their financial goals. He is intelligent and has great economic cognizant skills to reverse the deep thresholds of traditional stagnated poverty. In my opinion, Mr. Jamieson is a financial guru with a revolutionary cutting edge approach to wealth building. He is one of the brightest, most compassionate, highly energetic, gifted and determined people I know. I stand in full support and highly recommend Mr. John Jamieson to all.

Sincerely,

Dr. Ken Howard, M.S., M.Div., D.Min.
President and Senior Pastor
