A NOTE FROM JANE RUSSELL

Dear Members,

This is a note of sincere apology from me to all of you that did not get ribs on Sunday night. Until Noon on Sunday I was unaware of a case shortage (25 racks of ribs) from our distributor. At that time I felt we had enough ribs to meet all preorders and more. Steve and I both took orders and we took more orders than we had ribs, thinking we had plenty. I am accepting the responsibility. If you did not get them, I am sorry. This entire summer has been challenging with food ordering and procuring. I know you may not have gotten what you wanted but we at least have food available. My staff should not have to be subject to unpleasantness. Everyone is doing the best we can under very, very difficult conditions. We have been protected to some degree here at KYC because of all the work that is going on behind the scenes. We have greatly appreciated all your support this season. We have aimed for a quality dining experience for each of you, each time you order.

Thank you for all your understanding and patience.

Jane

RACING RESULTS

Mother Nature provided the full range of wind again this past weekend. The MC Scows had a strong, if shifty breeze for racing on Saturday morning.

On Sunday, the Lightnings shortened their course and managed to complete one race in a quickly dying thermal. Time elapsed for the three Es still attempting to finish race 1, while six Es retired from the race and chuckled from on-shore.

Monday was a day unlike any other seen for many years with a breeze in the low 20s early in the morning pre-race that continued to build up to 40mph. No racing on Monday!
