Student-led Learning Environments in 10 Steps

Wednesday, June 12

$100

Highland Community College Student Conference Center

Steve Oertle, Presenter

When teachers design student-driven classrooms and help students understand and apply the qualities of good learners, students begin to take responsibility for their learning, increasing their drive, motivation, and achievement. This interactive workshop will use John Hattie's research on effective influences on achievement as the anchor for providing an overview for the 10 steps necessary in creating a student-led learning environment. We welcome Steve back for his third visit to share his energy and excitement for learning.
