AGD SYSTEMS announces that it has implemented UH-60A Helicopter aircrew training in support of fire-fighting services in the western Continental United States. Several UH-60A Helicopters have been utilized in fire-fighting efforts as they are versatile and can carry heavy loads of water or retardant. The UH-60 Black Hawk helicopter has decades of proven capabilities and make a great platform for fire-fighting missions. Mark Daniels, CEO of AGD SYSTEMS was quoted saying, "We are pleased to be implementing our UH-60 aircrew training program and look forward to assisting in much needed help with the fires out west", said Daniels.
