Sunday Reflection – Easter Sunday

Today is Easter Sunday. What we are celebrating today is a mystery of our faith that Christ had been raised from the dead. He is a glorified Christ in body and spirit. If Christ did not resurrect, St. Paul says: "Then empty too is our preaching; empty too, your faith," (1Cor 15:14). If Christ did not resurrect then our suffering would be without meaning; our belief in God would be for nothing; our love would be fruitless; our prayers and our striving to do good and to be good would all be useless; and our death would be in vain. But by His resurrection, Jesus is showing us that life is not meaningless, our suffering is meaningful and our love would be fruitful. And the Risen Lord said: "I am with you always, until the end of the age" (Matt. 28:20).

Jesus continues His presence among us today through the sacraments, the Word of God, and the Worshiping community. Let us pray: "Lord Jesus Christ, you have triumphed over the grave and you have won new life for us. Give us the eyes of faith to see you in your glory. Help us to draw near to you and to grow in the knowledge of your great love and power." May I wish you all, and all your dear and near ones, a Blessed Easter Sunday. May the Risen Lord bless all of us, our families and the whole world.

† Saint of the Week ... St Isidore of Seville

St. Isidore of Seville was a scholar, writer and fearless defender of the faith in the fourth and fifth centuries. He is considered among the last of the early Church fathers.

Isidore was born in Spain around the year 560 to an influential family. He became Archbishop of Seville in Spain around the year 600, succeeding his older brother, Leander, who helped his younger brother develop a commitment to study and prayer. Leander strove to convert the Visigoths, who had invaded Spain, to Christianity, work Isidore continued when he became archbishop.

Saint Isidore promoted systemic and extensive education of the clergy, seeing it as necessary to guard against false doctrine. His most prominent work, the "Etymologiae," was the first Catholic encyclopedia. It was used for centuries in seminaries and schools. Because of this notable contribution, and because he believed that knowledge in all areas of study can be used at the service of the Gospel, he was declared the patron saint of Internet users.

Saint Isidore was known as a charitable archbishop, giving many of his possessions to the poor.

Along with Isidore, his brother Leander and younger brother Fulgentius were canonized, as was his sister Florentina, a nun.
